Dulles And Ike Discuss Red "Menace"

Sending GIs To Indochina Held Unlikely

Secretary Declares Battles There Not Creating Defeatism

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles evaluated "the menace of Soviet communism" today, and the Cabinet officer later declared it is "unlikely" American troops will be sent to Indochina.

Dulles said the violent battles being waged in Indochina are not creating any spirit of defeatism. "On the contrary," he said in a prepared statement issued after an hour-long session with the President, "they are rousing the free nations to measures which we hope will be sufficiently timely and vigorous to preserve these vital areas from Communist domination."

The secretary was referring to United States efforts to build a Pacific defense alliance against the spread of communism.

Newsman's questioning of Dulles about whether there is any "serious possibility" of American troops being sent into Indochina was prompted by Vice President Nixon's statement last Friday.

Hypothetical Question

At a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, Nixon, replying to a hypothetical question, said U. S. forces might have to be dispatched to Indochina if the French pull out. He prefaced his answer by saying he regarded French withdrawal as unlikely.

The vice president spoke with the understanding his remarks would not be attributed him, but what he said was traced quickly to him. His remarks touched off a storm of controversy in Congress and brought demands that Eisenhower say whether Nixon's views represented administration policy.

After today's session with Eisenhower the first question put to Dulles at a news conference was whether he felt there is any serious possibility of U. S. troops going to Indochina.

"I think it is unlikely," he replied quietly.

Not Speaking For President

Asked whether he was speaking for the President, the secretary said no—only for himself. He said later he didn't think the troop matter had been discussed at his meeting with Eisenhower.

Garnet Horner of the Washington Star then put this question to Dulles:

"Do you agree with Mr. Nixon in favoring the sending of American troops to Indochina, if necessary, as a last resort, to save that area from Communist domination if the French should pull out?"

Dulles replied that Nixon had answered a hypothetical question off the record and that he (Dulles) wasn't going to answer a hypothetical question on the record.

Nixon Stirs Hot Debate In Senate

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Vice President Nixon's remarks on the troops-for-Indochina question churned up a round of heated debate in the Senate today.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) accused Nixon of "whooping it up for war in Indochina" and on the subject of what he called "Mr. Nixon's war" Johnson declared:

"I am against sending American GIs into the mud and muck of Indochina on a bloodletting spree to perpetuate colonialism and white man's exploitation in Asia."

Late in the day, Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee took the floor to say he has been assured by both the State and Defense Departments there is "no change" in U. S. policy toward the Indochina fighting—that is, there is no plan to send American troops there.

The present controversy stems from a supposedly off-the-record talk by Nixon to the American Society of Newspaper Editors last week.

Nixon was asked about the possibility of American fighting men being sent to Indochina in the event the French withdraw their forces. He said he thought it unlikely the French would pull out, but added that if they did, American troops might have to be sent as a last resort.

MCCARTHY "FOE" — Mrs. Eleanor Lenroot (above), widow of Irvine L. Lenroot, who served as a federal judge and U. S. senator from Wisconsin, yesterday stopped Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) in a Capitol corridor and told him: "I am about to fight you." McCarthy seemed to suspect she was on a friendly mission and gave her a big grin as he reached out his hand. She repeated "I am about to fight you" in her husband's name, but McCarthy walked away. (AP Wirephoto)

French Fortress Defenses Shrink Under Red Attack

HANOI, Indochina, April 19 (AP)—The embattled French fortress of Dien Bien Phu shrunk into a heart-shaped network of defense tonight as the French fought desperately to stem onslaughts by fresh waves of Red-led Vietminh.

The bastion's crumbling barriers took on this new contour after the attacking rebel legions clipped off the northwest and northeast points of the original Y-shaped fortifications and the French constricted their points of defense.

The fury of the Vietminh attacks touched off speculation that the rebel commander, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap might be setting the stage for another mass assault on the northwest Indochina garrison.

Five Strong Points In "Heart"
Five of the original eight strong points held by the French when the siege began March 13, now are embraced in the "heart."

They comprise what is left of the northern defenses where the Vietminh hold five key outposts, the west and east strongpoints and the central fortifications including headquarters of Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, the garrison's commander.

A sixth strong point four miles to the south has had no communication with the fortress for more than three weeks, a French spokesman said.

The Vietminh attacked the shrunken bastion with new fury today battering it from three sides.

To the northwest rebels poured down from the hills to hammer at the breach opened yesterday when they seized a second French outpost and moved into a commanding position for a lunge at the core of the fortress.

Reds Retake Trenches

To the north, French foot troops tried to bayonet rebel forces from the trenches they retook last night along the bastion's main airstrip barely 800 yards from the French headquarters bunkers. French tanks and artillery blazed at the Vietminh dug in along the northern part of the vital strip.

To the south the rebels stormed through withering French fire to try to smash through the barbed wire barriers.

World Scientists Will Meet, Discuss Atom Energy Uses

LOS ANGELES, April 19 (AP)—Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, announced tonight plans for a conference of the world's leading scientists later this year to search for peaceful uses of atomic energy. Strauss said President Eisenhower will ask a national U. S. scientific organization to arrange the gathering—the first of its kind in this atomic-hydrogen age. No specific date was indicated for the session.

The purpose of the meeting, in Eisenhower's words, the AEC head said, will be "to hasten the day when the fear of the atom will begin to disappear from the minds of people and the governments of the East and the West."

Strauss disclosed plans for the international conclave in a speech prepared for the Los Angeles World Affairs Council. He mentioned it only briefly in telling of progress made on Eisenhower's proposal for setting up a "world atomic bank" for peacetime uses of atomic power.

Assistant FHA Commissioner Balks Probers

Clyde Powell Refuses To Answer Questions; Committee Is Blasted

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Clyde L. Powell, an assistant chief of the scandal-riddled Federal Housing Administration, refused to answer questions at a Senate inquiry today and left with a blast from his attorney accusing congressional committees of setting themselves up as "the grand inquest of the nation."

Powell invoked the Fifth Amendment privilege against possible self-incrimination in balking at questions as the Senate Banking Committee began investigating charges of multimillion dollar irregularities in connection with the government's housing and home loan programs.

Powell, who has served with the FHA since the mid-1930s, was subpoenaed after he refused to appear voluntarily. He had resigned his post April 5, but the resignation was held up when the housing scandals broke into the open last week.

Newsman Given Statement

Powell's lawyer, Daniel B. Mahler, handed newsmen a statement as he left the hearing room with his client. Without saying who had given the advice, the statement said Powell had been advised that if he permitted the Senate committee to question him, he would lose the rights of a grand jury investigation and the disclosure of unspecified charges against him.

The statement continued: "He (Powell) has been further told that congressional committees, instead of confining themselves to their proper function, have in effect constituted themselves as the grand inquest of the nation, acting as informers, witnesses, prosecutors, judges and juries; all of this under the guise of exercising a legislative function."

"He has been further advised that to one like himself who values his reputation, the injury from slanderous statements and unjust accusations . . . is immeasurably more disastrous than any punishment available to the government when imposed by a court."

Hollyday Bewildered

Powell's refusal to testify came after Guy T. O. Hollyday, former Baltimore banker, expressed bewilderment as to why President Eisenhower fired him as FHA commissioner.

Testifying with a display of frankness that won plaudits from committee members, Hollyday said he knew when he took office a year ago that "unscrupulous promoters" were at work in the field of federal loans on housing.

He said he put through new regulations last Dec. 1 designed to prevent the fleecing of loan seekers, and ousted 45 FHA employees—one of whom he said was involved in "a very serious allegation" of a $10,000 transaction between an FHA official and a builder.

The case, he said, has been turned over to the Justice Department.

Bitten By 'Easter Bunny'

INDIANAPOLIS, April 19 (AP)—Bobby Crawford, 4, hot in pursuit of an "Easter bunny," cornered it in a neighbor's yard Sunday, only to be bitten on the left leg.

Six policemen found it was no rabbit at all, but a raccoon.

McCarthy Believed Winning Fight To Quiz Row Witnesses

Restrained During Inquest

Tony Simkus (right) lunges at Martin Bober, 26, (seated, left background) crying out "you crumb, you crumb," during an inquest into the death of a traffic victim, John H. Martin, 67, at Chicago. Simkus, son-in-law of the dead man, started at Bober, who police say was the driver of the auto involved. Martin was on his way to Church Easter Sunday when struck down. Restraining Simkus are Detectives Dennis McDonough (left) and John Egan (rear, glasses). Police say Bober did not report to police until five hours after the accident. He will appear on reckless homicide charges on May 6.

Cpl. Dickenson Pleads Innocent At Court-Martial

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson pleaded innocent today to charges that he lent himself to enemy propaganda use, and turned informer on fellow prisoners of war in Korea, to win favorable treatment for himself.

The 23-year-old Cracker's Neck, Va., soldier—who once decided to stay on the side of his Red captors, but changed his mind and came home—entered the plea at the first court-martial of its kind in American military history.

His lawyers contended the Army broke faith with Dickenson by backing down on a promise of immunity, and also that Army officials have instructed prospective witnesses not to cooperate with the defense.

The Army came back with a detailed list of charges against the slightly built, round-faced soldier. One of them: that he "squealed" on a fellow prisoner who was planning to escape with the result that the Communists tortured the man and three times led him before a firing squad.

Dickenson, wearing his Army uniform, flashed a big smile at his recent bride when she entered the small, maroon-carpeted courtroom at the Ft. McNair post exchange. Otherwise his manner was calm and intent as he heard his attorneys make one futile plea after another for dismissal of the charges.

Four Killed As Plane Crashes In Vacant Lot

DENVER, April 19 (AP)—A small Utah plane crashed in a vacant lot near residences and schools here today, killing all four persons aboard.

Police identified the dead as Roland B. Smith, about 50, of Clearfield, Utah; William E. Robin, 30, of Ogden, and their wives. The crash occurred near residences, an elementary school and a hospital.

Spectators said the engine of the plane, a Bonanza Beechcraft, was still running when it hit the street pavement and bounced into a field. Then it burst into flames.

Deer Budged Itself

BERGLAND, Mich., April 19 (AP)—David A. MacPherson struck a deer with his car. He found the deer tightly wedged under the car. Unable to budge the deer himself, MacPherson went to a nearby farmhouse and returned with help. The deer was gone. It had slipped away under its own power.

Certificate Worth $438.21 Is Found Floating In River

TURNERS FALLS, Mass., April 19 (AP)—Someone may collect $438.21 if postal authorities find him, or her.

A postal savings certificate issued in Bloomington, Ill., 20 years ago for $200 was found today floating in the Connecticut River.

Postmaster J. T. Shanahan said, its value more than doubled, the valuable float was sent to the postmaster general for tracing. The certificate, found by a utility company foreman, was in the water two or three years, postal authorities believed.

Heroic Trucker Sacrifices Life

BELMONT, Calif., April 19 (AP)—Many lives lay in the path of a runaway 20-ton truck today but only one death marked its wild plunge—the driver's. He saw to that.

Jay Stafford, 48, of San Francisco, was hauling a load of dirt from a quarry, following another truck down a hill when something snapped. Stafford's truck began bearing down on the truck ahead.

A station wagon was approaching. Stafford steered his rapidly accelerating vehicle between them, brushing both but hurting neither.

Ahead of him was another truck stopped at a crowded crossing. Beyond the truck was a stream of traffic. To one side of him was a school.

Stafford swung his steering wheel. His truck careened across a three-foot ditch, knocked down a 50-foot tree, ripped through 20 yards of steel fence and smashed to a stop against an oak tree.

The fuel tank burst open. Flames engulfed the truck. More than 100 children at play at a nearby school watched in horror as the burned body of Stafford fell out of the cab when tow trucks pulled the wreckage free.

Search Resumed For 13 Mountain Climbers

OBERTRAUN, Austria, April 19 (AP)—Austrian rescue workers, dodging snow slides, resumed their search today for 13 German school boys and teachers missing since Thursday on Dachstein Mountain in central Austria.

The mountain had been whipped by continuous snowstorms for the past three days. Last night the weather improved and today a warming sun loosened avalanches of snow.

Russian Boycott Of Arms Control Group Is Hinted

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—The U. N. Disarmament Commission today set up a Big Power subcommittee, for a new look at ways to control the hydrogen bomb and other weapons.

Russia hinted she would boycott the subcommittee because Red China, India and Czechoslovakia were omitted.

Climaxing a day long wrangle between the Soviet Union delegate, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, and the Western delegates, the commission voted 9 to 1 in favor of a British resolution to put Britain, France, the United States, the Soviet Union and Canada on the subcommittee.

Vishinsky voted against this proposal and the delegates of Lebanon and Nationalist China abstained.

The commission earlier had voted 10 to 1 against a proposal by Vishinsky to add India, Communist China and Czechoslovakia to the subcommittee. Vishinsky was the only delegate raising his hand for that proposal and Lebanon abstained.

Before the rush of ballots, Vishinsky had warned the commission that defeat of his proposal would create difficulties for the Soviet Union as regards its participation in the subcommittee.

"Without the participation of the people's republic of China, India, and Czechoslovakia, we cannot imagine the success of our work," he said.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. delegate, reminded Vishinsky that he was going against the majority of the commission and said that this was a "thinly veiled threat" not to work in the subcommittee.

Pentagon Informs M'Carthy Requests For Favors Rare

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson and the armed service secretaries have informed Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that of the many thousands of letters and calls they receive from congressmen each year it is "rare" for one to ask special favors for individuals in uniform.

The secretaries said it is not Pentagon practice to monitor telephone calls except occasionally when a stenographer's help is needed to insure accuracy and speed, particularly where facts and figures are involved.

The service chiefs all said they have no special facilities for handling inquiries by congressmen. McCarthy raised these questions in a letter to the Pentagon last week. He asked the service secretaries how many requests they had received from members of Congress and government officials since the start of World War II for "special assignment and treatment" of military personnel.

Mundt Believes Delay Of Inquiry Is Now Unlikely

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) apparently came close to victory today in his fight for the privilege of cross-examining witnesses at public hearings into his clash with top Army officials.

The question was threshed out at a four-hour closed meeting between McCarthy and four other members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. And, while the outcome was not announced, there were these indications McCarthy was getting at least part of what he wanted:

1. Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) told newsmen "it now appears very definite" the televised hearings will get under way as scheduled at 10 a. m. (EST) Thursday. The cross-examination dispute had threatened to delay them.

2. McCarthy himself said he hasn't changed "materially" his position that both he and his Army antagonists should be allowed to cross-examine. Asked specifically if he intended to claim "any of the privileges of cross-examination," he replied: "I haven't resigned yet from the Senate."

His meaning apparently was that, as a senator, he can ask questions.

McCarthy already has turned the subcommittee chairmanship over to Mundt for this inquiry. Some members have been insisting he go further and get off the subcommittee entirely while his dispute with the Army officials is before it.

Mundt said final rules for the hearings will be put to a vote of the full subcommittee tomorrow, when one or perhaps both of the Democrats absent today will be able to attend.

Two Democrats Absent

In the meantime, Mundt said, it wouldn't be fair to the absent Democrats—Senators McClellan (Ark.) and Jackson (Wash.)—to discuss any matters ironed out at today's closed session. Those who did attend the meeting were McCarthy, Mundt, and Senators Potter (R-Mich.), Dirksen (R-Ill.) and Symington (D-Mo.).

Mundt held a brief news conference afterward. McCarthy sat in on part of it, and told reporters: "My position has long been that (Secretary of the Army) Stevens and (Army Counsel John G.) Adams have the right to examine witnesses and I have the right to examine witnesses, too."

Mundt shut off further questioning as to whether McCarthy had modified this position.

Before the meeting, McCarthy indicated he was standing pat.

'Paul Revere' Finds Going Too Rough

BOSTON, April 19 (AP)—Re-enactment of Paul Revere's famous ride of 1775 to "warn every Middlesex village and farm" that the British were coming was halted today when his impersonator, Capt. Luther J. Sands, 72, collapsed while riding over Charlestown's bumpy cobblestone streets.

Capt. Sands, member of the National Lancers, began the ride at 10 a. m. from Paul Revere's old home in the north end in observance of Patriot's Day. He soon found the going too much for him.

Mrs. Petrov Asks Refuge In Australia

Leaves Plane Taking Her Homeward As Red Couriers Disarmed

DARWIN, Australia, April 20 (AP)—Mrs. Vladimir Petrov, wife of the Soviet diplomat who switched to the West and handed over a bundle of spy data last week, dramatically turned against Soviet authorities today and left the plane on which she was being escorted homeward.

The tall honey-blonde woman asked political refuge in Australia with her husband after a hectic eight-minute fist fight at Sydney airport where anti-Communist bystanders tried to prevent her being dragged aboard the British BOAC Constellation by three Soviet escorts.

The bystanders, mostly refugees from Russia, said she was protesting, "I do not want to go." When the plane reached Darwin, last stop in Australia, at 5 a. m., a dozen police in addition to security police swarmed aboard.

Red Couriers Disarmed

Two Russian couriers were overpowered and relieved of the .32 calibre pistols which they were carrying in shoulder holsters, despite their resistance. During the struggle police put a headlock on one of the Russians.

The second secretary of the Russian Embassy in Canberra, F. V. Kisiltsin, who was a member of the party escorting Mrs. Petrov back to Moscow, claimed the police action was a breach of diplomatic immunity and that Mrs. Petrov had been "kidnaped."

The embassy official himself was not searched.

While the men were being searched, Mrs. Petrov was separated from the rest of the Russians and R.S. Leydin, Northern Territory government secretary, talked with her nearly three-quarters of an hour.

Instructed By Menzies

He had been instructed by Prime Minister Robert Menzies of the foreign government, after the plane had left Sydney, to determine if she wanted to stay in this country.

She had an hour to make up her mind before the plane left for Zurich, Switzerland.

The BOAC hostess, a Miss Bull, also talked with her.

"I think she wants to stay in Australia, but she is scared," Miss Bull reported to newsmen at one point during the interview. "She is very much in distress about what to do."

At the end of the interview Kisiltsin announced that she would leave the plane and stay in Australia.

The plane, with the two Russian couriers and the embassy's second secretary aboard, then resumed the flight and Mrs. Petrov telephoned her husband in Canberra.

Unemployment Study Launched

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The Labor Department is quietly making a study of the causes of unemployment with the idea of seeing what employers can do to reduce it.

One notion being considered is that employment and production might be made more regular if workers were employed by the month or on a quarterly or semi-annual basis instead of by the hour or by the week.

Administration sources, in making known today that the study was started about a month ago, said it is not yet clear how far it will go.

The survey was described as an effort to assemble all the facts about uncertain employment conditions and to publish them in a series of Labor Department reports.

With nearly four million workers unemployed many labor unions, particularly those of factory-type workers mainly organized by the CIO, are pushing demands for various types of employer-paid jobless insurance to supplement the unemployment compensation benefits paid by the states.

The unions call their plan a guaranteed annual wage. Originally the CIO unions wanted a yearly guaranteed wage, but they have virtually all modified their demand to some form of supplemental unemployment insurance.

Deadline Passes For Filing As Candidates In Primary

Two Republicans Seek Tawes' Job

ANNAPOLIS, April 19 (AP)—The Republicans had two candidates for comptroller of Maryland tonight, but there was no indication they filed with support of the party's regular organization.

Haile Chisholm, 50, of Garrett Park in Montgomery County, and J. George Eierman, 42, of Baltimore, put up their $270 and placed their names on the June 28 primary ballots about six hours before the midnight deadline for getting into the contest.

Both filed without any announcement. Their candidacies evidently were surprises to Statehouse associates of Gov. McKeldin. It means that if both stay in, Comptroller J. Millard Tawes will have opposition for a change. And it will alter the governor's campaign plans.

Tawes, a Democrat, ran without opposition in either party four years ago. Those close to McKeldin say the governor and some of his friends have not been especially eager to fight him this time. The theory, challenged in some GOP quarters, has been that the rest of the ticket might shake with reverberations of a vigorous campaign against Tawes.

The comptroller is completing his third elected term and also has served part of another. He is a major figure in state politics and particularly influential on the Eastern Shore.

Both parties at least knew that by midnight they would have clear fields to view for the choosing of sides in the primary. The secretary of state's office was manned until the filing deadline to receive late candidacies for statewide offices, Congress and the judiciary.

The main battle, effects of which will be felt in just about every other scrap, is for the governorship.

Bucking McKeldin for the nomination are Lt. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle of Elkridge, retired Marine officer; James W. Gum, Dickerson, a dairy farmer and lawyer, and Temus R. (Tim) Bright, Baltimore auto dealer.

The Democratic scrap pits Dr. H. C. Byrd, president emeritus of the University of Maryland, against George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County business man. Mahoney won a popular-vote majority in the gubernatorial primary four years ago, but lost the nomination to former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. by a convention balloting system comparable with the electoral college.

Mahoney was the Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate in 1952. Sen. J. Glenn Beall, the Republican, beat him. This is Byrd's first fling for public office, although he has been a major figure in Democratic politics for years.

A list of candidates who had filed by mid-afternoon for all but city or county offices included (denotes incumbent):

GOVERNOR
Democrats—Harry C. Byrd, College Park and George P. Mahoney, Owings Mills.

Republicans—Temus Bright, Baltimore, Pedro A. Del Valle, Elkridge, James W. Gum, Dickerson and Theodore R. McKeldin, Annapolis (X).

COMPTROLLER
Democrats—J. Millard Tawes, Crisfield (X) and Harry Kemper, Baltimore.

Republicans—Haile Chisholm, Garrett Park, and J. George Eierman, Baltimore.

DEMOCRATS—Philip M. Dorsey Jr., Leonardtown, T. Barton Harrington, Baltimore and C. Ferdinand Sybert, Ellicott City.

REPUBLICANS—Edward D. E. Rolins, Elkton (X).

CONGRESS, 1ST
Democrats—William D. Hill, Easton and Edward Turner, Centerville.

REPUBLICANS—Edward T. Miller, Easton (X).

CONGRESS, 2ND

drive that would put the carrier where the boxes are? This must have occurred to everyone who has watched a carrier wander down the highway, steering awkwardly from the middle of the seat.

Emigh has a ready answer. "I'll tell you why most of our carriers like a left hand drive," he said. "It's easier. Or, anyway, it is to me, although some of our boys do prefer the wheel on the right."

"But try it on your own car and you'll see what I mean. You sit in the middle, and drive up to the box. You keep your right foot on the brake, and you lean over and support yourself with your right hand on the door. Then you put the mail in the box with your left hand."

"You can reach a lot farther this way than if you used your right hand. Each day when he's on the job, Emigh drives 51 miles and goes into his contortionist act 500 times so that the mail will come through middle? Why not a right hand, for 2,700 persons.

118 'Risks' Left Service In 1953

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The Defense Department has told Congress it has reports of 118 "security risks" who were fired or resigned last year after investigations were begun.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and John Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, in testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee made public tonight, said the 118 represented only the cases reported to Washington so far. All reports from hundreds of military installations and offices have not been received, they said.

Of the 118, the officials said, 111 cases "involved actual or alleged membership in the Communist party, or affiliation or sympathetic association with Communist organizations or persons, or Communist 'inclinations.'" Wilson's statement added:

"There were many additional resignations and separations which involved security reasons but which were not reported to the Department of Defense in Washington as they were removed under administrative removal procedures. In order to verify and complete the overall Department of Defense statistics relative to this program, approximately 1,300 field activities are being circulated on a worldwide basis. These statistics should be available within the next 60 to 90 days."

DEMOCRATS—Edward A. Garmatz (X).

REPUBLICANS—Jerry Foula, Congress, 4TH.

DEMOCRATS—George N. Fallon (X).

REPUBLICANS—Linwood G. Koger, Melvin B. Landy, Arthur W. Sherwood and Myrtle S. Shipley.

CONGRESS, 5TH
Democrats—Walter L. Green, College Park, Richard E. Lankford, Annapolis and Robert M. Watkins, College Park.

REPUBLICANS—Robert E. Ennis, Capitol Heights and Frank Small Jr., Clinton (X).

CONGRESS, 6TH
Democrats—Charles M. Irelan, Silver Spring and Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg.

REPUBLICANS—DeWitt S. Hyde, Bethesda (X).

CONGRESS, 7TH
Democrats—Samuel N. Friedel (X) and Henry R. Hergenroeder.

REPUBLICANS—Edward C. Dukehart.

U. S. Rural Mail Carriers Have To Be Contortionists

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The government now employs 32,527 rural mail carriers, each of whom necessarily is a contortionist.

"A fellow has to be a contortionist to hold down this job," Jack Emigh said. "There simply is no other way to get mail out of an automobile and into a mail box."

Emigh ought to know. He carries the mail in Roaring Spring, Pa., when he isn't on leave as executive secretary of the National Rural Letter Carriers' Assn.

U. S. Will Bring More Gls Back From Far East

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The Defense Department plans to bring more troops back from the Far East.

That was disclosed tonight in testimony on the new defense budget, made public by a House Appropriations subcommittee.

Secretary of Defense Wilson was testifying about changed circumstances following the end of shooting in Korea and the buildup, with American aid, of South Korea's army to a 20-division strength. Then he said:

"Well, from the point of view of not having an active war we still have too many troops in the Pacific. . . . We expect to bring some of them back as conditions permit."

Two Divisions To Be Returned
Elsewhere in the testimony, Wilson said, "We certainly cannot look forward to keeping about 10 or 11 divisions permanently deployed in the Pacific."

President Eisenhower and Army headquarters in the Far East announced earlier this year that two divisions—the 40th and 45th—would be returned to the States and mustered out of federal service. They originally were National Guard divisions. The 45th Division now has virtually completed the move to the States; the 40th is due to return about June.

With the return of those divisions there would be left in Korea the 2nd, 3rd, 7th, 24th and 25th Army infantry divisions and the 1st Marine Division. In Japan are the Army's 1st Cavalry Division and the 3rd Marine Division.

Reds Trim Korea Strength
Wilson was asked if the Reds had reduced their forces anywhere in the world? He replied: "The Chinese have withdrawn some troops from North Korea, we think."

Wilson said that in Europe now are about 300,000 men—and with them 200,000 dependents.

"It is a Defense Department responsibility to get those dependents out of there in case of hostilities," he observed. "That would be about as troublesome as to move five divisions over there."

John Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, told the subcommittee that by next June 30 the total U. S. military strength would be about 3,327,000, of which 1,407,000 are Army. A year later the total strength will be cut to 3,038,000, with Army strength at 1,164,000.

Man Gets His 3rd Set Of Teeth At 71

CASPIAN, Mich., April 19 (AP)—Louis Zini, 71, has his third set of molars. And they're his very own—not the store-bought kind.

Zini, a retired iron miner in this Upper Peninsula community, has four new molars. They grew in, side by side, on the right side of his lower jaw.

"They're handy replacements," he said. Zini first felt the new teeth growing a year ago.

Grammer Will Learn Execution Date Today

BALTIMORE, April 19 (AP)—George Edward Grammer, sentenced to die for the murder of his wife and denied appeals by the highest courts in the state and nation, will learn tomorrow morning the date of his execution.

Judge Herman M. Moser who convicted Grammer without a jury in October of 1952, will set the date when Grammer is to die on the gallows at the Maryland Penitentiary.

Only intervention by Gov. McKeldin now can save the 37-year-old Grammer from the extreme penalty.

He was convicted of bludgeoning his wife to death with a piece of pipe, then setting her new car in motion down a steep hill toward a busy intersection to make her death appear accidental.

The State contended Grammer's love for a woman employee of the United Nations was motive for the slaying.

Retirement Of W. Va. Judge Is Approved

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 19 (AP)—The retirement of 81-year-old Judge William E. Baker, one of West Virginia's three federal judges, was approved by President Eisenhower here today.

The judge of U. S. District Court for Northern West Virginia had served 33 years on the federal bench when he retired April 3.

There is only one man in active service who has served longer—Judge John C. Knox of the Southern District of New York.

Senators Open Comic Book Inquiry Today

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—An investigation into "sordid comic books and their impact upon adolescents" will be launched tomorrow by a U. S. Senate Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency.

Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R-N.J.) said today, "We are conducting these hearings in New York, the heart of the comic book industry, because of the thousands of letters we have received in which the writers expressed deepest concern over comic books and other mass media of communication."

"McCarthyism" Issue Features Jersey Primary

NEWARK, N. J., April 19 (AP)—The issue of McCarthyism will be a feature of an otherwise dull New Jersey primary election tomorrow.

It cropped up in the 7th Congressional Dist. where former Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, convicted of payroll padding while in office, has made it the mainstay of his comeback campaign.

Thomas, 59, onetime chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, says he backs Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's objectives and methods in the fight against communism "1,000 per cent."

His opponent for the Republican nomination is incumbent Congressman William B. Widnall, who says he favors "fair procedures" in congressional probes and pledges full support to President Eisenhower's program.

Widnall, 48, an attorney who lives in Saddle River, was elected to office from the normally Republican 7th Dist. in 1950 when Thomas stepped down under fire after serving seven terms in the House.

Thomas was convicted for padding payrolls in his congressional office. He served a nine-month federal prison term and was pardoned by President Truman in 1952.

The state's newest member in Congress, Rep. Harrison A. Williams Jr., who last November won a heated special election contest that was billed as a test of Eisenhower's popularity, is unopposed as the Democratic candidate for re-election from the 6th Dist.

But the Republicans have a seven-way battle for a nominee to run against young Williams in an effort to reclaim the usually-Republican district in the fall election.

For the first time in many years, there is no opposition in either party for the top vacancy—a U. S. Senate seat.

The easternmost point of Alaska lies about 600 miles farther west than San Francisco.

Only One Of Five Children Receives Required Exercise

U. S. Steel was the day's most NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Parents won't want to believe this: Only about one of every five children receives the daily amount of vigorous exercise required for normal growth, says Carl A. Troester, executive secretary of the American Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Children 6 to 13 years old, in normal physical condition, require two to four hours of vigorous activity each day for normal growth. These estimates, he added, come from pediatricians, physicians and other experts in the field of child growth.

U. S. Will Resist China's U. N. Bid, Lodge Tells AP

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. today pledged that America will resist Communist China's admission to the United Nations "on mere promises of good behavior in the future."

He said Red China's record of war and savagery contradicts the very cornerstone of the U.N.'s foundations.

Lodge's policy statement was made to the annual Associated Press luncheon almost on the eve of the Geneva Conference—where the Communist world is expected to press hard for Red China's admission to the international organization.

Lodge, the nation's chief delegate to the U. N., ticked off a 10-count indictment against the Chinese Reds—including the charge that they "support aggression in Indochina, by giving substantial aid and by furnishing advisers and technicians to the Vietminh forces."

Then he added: "I can promise you that the United States will steadfastly resist all maneuvers by the Chinese Communist regime and its advocates to bribe its way into the United Nations on mere promises of good behavior in the future."

"To admit to the United Nations this regime which believes in war as an instrument of national policy would be the first time in its history that the United Nations had deliberately decided to stultify itself by flagrantly acting in contradiction of its primary and basic purpose to 'save succeeding generations from the scourge of war.'"

There's nothing that expands your wardrobe more successfully than smart, sudsable blouses.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A smartly dressed woman possesses a wardrobe of blouses to vary her suits, and makes costume-perfect her skirts and leisure-time trousers. There are few items that expand your "what to wear today" potential the way a blouse does.

Suppose you are going directly from the office to a dinner date. The suit that looks so trim in your at-work atmosphere may not satisfy your wishes for at-play sophistication. But a jeweled costume shirt or a halter blouse of interesting fabric may be your answer, hidden 'neath your jacket by day, revealed by night.

For at home entertaining, wear a gaily tucked or ruffled shirt in an exciting "hot" color with your tapered slacks or your wide skirt—the perfect hostess costume for the perfect hostess!

Shirts Are Good

Judging by what the Powers Girls are wearing these days, the shirt's the thing. With straight skirts and suits they wear tailored shirts—striped, solid color or patterned—in silk, linen or dacron. They borrow a man's style note by wearing French cuffed shirts with glittering cuff links larger than the man-size.

I asked my stylist for suggestions to give you on what is newest in blouses. Here are her fashion notes just as she gave them to me:

"Cotton knits (once limited to the T-shirt) in fancy versions; tweed and tapestry patterns; new silhouettes—the halter top, the ribbed knit "bell hop" jacket;

"Feminine jewel-sparked linens; ruffled embroidered cottons for dressy occasions; the dimity 'choir boy' blouse, frill-touched nylon or dacron tricot; silk and orlon surah with permanently pleated accents

(even pleated sleeves) and printed or pique-weave dacron; acetate sharkskin.

Also Important

Epilogue to my stylist's fashion talk is this: The appearance of your blouse is as important as the way it is styled. Soap-and-water freshness is indispensable to the well-groomed look, so check on a blouse's upkeep (is it washable?) before you buy it.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In case after case, pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form under the name of Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

A NEW BLUE SUNOCO

STILL AT REGULAR GASOLINE PRICE

Only one grade... America's greatest gasoline value

How Sun's one-grade policy gives you high-test performance at regular gas price

Sun Oil Company produces only one grade of gasoline—High-Test Blue Sunoco. This single grade policy results in savings on storage tanks, trucks and pumps. These savings are invested in research and new, improved refining processes to give you this new premium-performing gasoline—New High-Test Blue Sunoco—at regular gasoline price.

WE SAVE ON TANKS

WE SAVE ON TRUCKS

WE SAVE ON PUMPS

You save every mile you drive with New Blue Sunoco

PROVED AT INDIANAPOLIS—New Blue Sunoco was tested against 16 premium-priced gasolines at Indianapolis automobile track. Tests were conducted under personal supervision of Wilbur Shaw, Pres. of Indianapolis Motor Speedway Corp. Results prove that—whether you drive 50,000, 20,000 or 10,000 miles a year—you can get as much as 14.9% of these miles free, when you change from a premium-priced brand to new High-Test Blue Sunoco at regular gas price.

The Test: Each day of test, sixteen cars (including cars with highest-compression engines) were fueled with $3.00 worth of gasoline, driven around track till their tanks ran dry. Number of miles each car went was carefully recorded. The fleet of cars was run on Blue Sunoco and on all 16 "premium" gasolines.

Result: New Blue Sunoco—at regular gas price—beat them all! It gave up to 14.9% (average 10.4%) more miles than premium-priced brands tested. Ask your Sunoco dealer for names of the 16 gasolines tested.

Rainfall of the past few days has not eased the ban on non-essential use of water, Commissioner William J. Edwards said yesterday.

Answering a question at the meeting of the Mayor and Council by Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, concerning the status of the local supply, Edwards said there is a ban on watering lawns, sidewalks and concrete areas as well as other non-essential uses, including car washing.

Exception to the car washing ban is where a place of business hires a man specifically for that purpose, Edwards said, and in these cases only water necessary is used. All are urged to be as sparing as possible.

The water commissioner said not until Lake Gordon is full and Lake Koon's water level within two feet of the top of the spillway can the city "feel safe."

The water report for the week ending Sunday showed the level in Gordon to be seven feet, three inches below the crest, and Lake Koon seven feet, ten inches below. This reveals little improvement. Edwards noted, as the readings last week showed Koon approximately 10 feet below and Gordon six feet below.

Water use is also up over the same period a year ago. Last week consumption totaled 85,770,000 gallons, compared to 77,800,000 the same week in 1953.

Four young men were injured early yesterday in a pickup truck-automobile collision on Route 40 about one mile west of Keyser's Ridge.

Admitted to Miners Hospital at Frostburg for treatment and X-rays were:

Stanley Roy Pepper, 19, RD 3, Hudson, Ohio, chest injuries; Robert Lee Grimes, 22, Zihlman, lacerations of the head and right ear, and Joseph Northup, 19, of 5118 Alexis Road, Sylvania, Ohio, facial cuts.

James Lowell Keller, Upper Sandusky, Ohio, was treated for minor hurts and discharged, while James Griffith, also of Zihlman, escaped harm in the accident at 3:30 a. m.

Maryland State Police said Pepper's pickup truck, headed west, careened across the center of the highway after a tire blew out. His machine struck Keller's car, traveling in the opposite direction.

Northup was riding with Keller. Trooper First Class Blair J. Buckel is investigating.

Still in critical condition at Sacred Heart Hospital are Mrs. Cora Lepley, wife of Dorsey Lepley, 335 Frederick Street, and Carol Fay Witte, 15, of Mt. Savage. Both were injured in traffic accidents.

Mrs. Lepley, employed at the Celanese plant on the cafeteria staff, was struck by an auto Friday night as she crossed Route 220. The driver, James H. Barrett, Newark, Ohio, is being held by State Police.

The Witte girl was hit by a car Thursday in Mt. Savage. Authorities said she apparently darted in front of a vehicle operated by Floyd W. Shaffer, RD 1, Buffalo Mills, Pa., who faces a technical charge of reckless driving.

torney I can definitely promise that no person will be deprived of his or her personal liberties by being held secretly in hotel rooms or elsewhere without benefit of counsel.

"At all reasonable times of the day or night I will allow any person the opportunity to see and talk with his or her family and counsel. All conferences with persons by me will be held at the offices of the state's attorney, and not in secret in rooms in Allegany County, Washington County or elsewhere. While in the legislature I fought against such practices by any state's attorney. I sponsored and had passed by the Maryland Bar Association a resolution which suggested that something be done to prevent the holding of suspects without charge and without benefit of counsel, pending investigation. To preserve civil liberties for all in Allegany County appears to me the best way I can serve the people of this county. I do not believe in guilt by association nor will I forget that in America our people are innocent until proved guilty.

and especially to the Republican party in Allegany County, is the benefits to our people, in both parties, that are derived by having a senator from Allegany County with sufficient tenure and seniority to be the minority leader in the Senate. Such a position brings great advantages in promoting the welfare of our people, which the county needs at this time particularly. It is my desire to do nothing that would lessen any advantages the people of Allegany County might have in the Senate of Maryland at this time by the seniority of their senator. There never has been a doubt in my mind that Senator (Robert B.) Kimble and myself have always had, in our separate judgments, a sincere wish to do our best for the welfare of all of our people. In the legislative halls we both have consistently supported and recognized the just demands of labor.

"I am 41 years of age and have lived in Allegany County, at West-ernport, all my life. I was graduated from the public schools in Allegany County and received my higher education at Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pa.; Princeton University, Princeton, N. J.; and the University of Maryland, Law School, Baltimore. I have practiced law in Allegany County since 1936, except during the war years. During World War II, I was in active service with the Navy for over three years, serving as senior lieutenant communication officer for the U. S. S. Tutuila in the South Pacific and China seas. I saw active duty at Eniwetok, Tulagi in the Solomon Islands, Leyte in the Philippine Islands, Ulithi, Okinawa, Korea and North China. After the war I returned to the practice of law, served one term as a vice president of the Maryland Bar Association, and was elected to the House of Delegates of the Maryland Legislature in 1946, serving to 1950, and then was re-elected in 1950 for another four-year term. Part of this time I served as chairman of the Allegany County Delegation to the House. I served all of my eight years in the House on the Ways and Means Committee, one of the major committees of the House dealing with the fiscal affairs of the state and county.

Helped With Road Program

"I took an active and prominent part in formulating the program type of state budget for economy reasons. I sponsored legislation which resulted in the University of Maryland Board of Regents submitting a detailed itemized budget to the legislature instead of its traditional memorandum data only. I served on the sub-committee of the House Ways and Means Committee that formulated the 12-year road program for the state administration. I sponsored and had passed in the House of Delegates a bill that distributed the public utility taxes to Allegany County in proportion to the personal property of the utility located in this county, which taxes collected on Allegany County property are now being paid to Baltimore city and other counties.

"I have a wife, Lorelle, and one daughter, Nancy Clare, 10, and we all live together in Allegany County. I am at present a member of the vestry of St. James Episcopal Church at Westernport, a member of Hiram Lodge of the Masonic order, Cumberland Consistory of Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, and Ali Ghan Shrine Temple of Cumberland. I also am a member of Philos Lodge 91, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and Victory Post, American Legion.

"I respectfully will appreciate and solicit the support of my fellow citizens of Allegany County for this important office of our county government."

It is my desire to do nothing that would lessen any advantages the people of Allegany County might have in the Senate of Maryland at this time by the seniority of their senator. There never has been a doubt in my mind that Senator (Robert B.) Kimble and myself have always had, in our separate judgments, a sincere wish to do our best for the welfare of all of our people. In the legislative halls we both have consistently supported and recognized the just demands of labor.

Safety Patrol Celebration To Be Held Here On May 15

The Greater Cumberland School Safety Patrol celebration and parade will be held here Saturday, May 15, beginning at 11 a. m.

Permission was granted yesterday by the Mayor and Council for the parade and construction of a reviewing stand in front of City Hall facing Centre Street.

The city also plans to issue a proclamation declaring that Saturday as "School Safety Patrol Day."

At the same time, council agreed to issue another proclamation designating May 15 as "Armed Forces Day." This program will be held later in the day and the two programs will not conflict, it was explained.

The safety patrol parade will form at the Armory on Salem Street and move from Centre to Union Street, to George Street, to Baltimore Street, to Centre Street, to Market Street and to Cumberland Street and Allegany High School.

The parade will be part of the program, including a luncheon and movie, honoring the hundreds of boys and girls who protect students crossing the city's streets on their way to and from school.

Application for the permits was made by Robert Little Ebert for the Greater Cumberland committee.

Council considered a number of

Pressure Plan For North End Is Explained

The North End water tank which should be ready for operation in several weeks or less, came up again yesterday in discussions before the Mayor and Council.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long questioned council, after noting he had been asked for a similar explanation, about use of an eight-inch line into a four-inch pump. He wanted to know the engineering principle for such a setup.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said that the suction line is eight inches with two pumps—one four inches and another six inches.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said Long could have asked the engineer, the Mayor or others at City Hall about the "common sense" engineering principle without bringing the matter up as he did. He explained that the pumps are to keep up water level in the 75,000 gallon tank and have nothing to do with the pressure.

Later it was explained by Eves the pump house is located at the end of a 24-inch line with an eight-inch line coming out to the pump section. One pump has a three and one-half inch suction with a three-inch discharge, and the auxiliary pump a two and one-half inch suction with two-inch discharge. Capacity of the pumps is 450 gallons a minute, which means they would have to operate only several hours on alternate days.

The discharge, Eves said, goes into a six-inch line to the tank and also empties into the old, existing six-inch line supplying the high part or upper end of Piedmont Avenue.

The system for that area will be entirely separate, it was pointed out. Pressure is regulated through a gate valve, which, if not used, would increase pressure in the lower North End areas to such an extent it would damage pipes and fittings. "However, in event of fire or emergency, the valve can be opened to supply the needed pressure."

Nuzum made the statement, at Long's questioning, that the tank would be in operation within a couple of weeks, but Eves said it may be sooner.

Nuzum said some valves are still to be installed. One pump is ready to go but the other must be connected. The Water Department has been installing a pump at the Fort Hill reservoir, he added, and will be concentrating on the North End tank now.

Council received a bid for wire fencing to be placed around the tank site on Wills mountain. That was for cyclone fence, submitted by American Steel and Wire Division of the U. S. Steel Corporation. The bid, $663, was referred to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards.

Check Artist Given Year

Charles Albert Van Dyne, 44, Knoxville, Tenn., was sentenced to a year in the Maryland House of Correction in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge George Henderson on three charges of passing bad checks. The terms will run concurrently.

Van Dyne, a tall man of distinguished appearance, has a long record as a passer of bad checks, and is wanted in several other states on similar charges.

Van Dyne passed three worthless checks for $100 on January 15, 16 and 18 at the Windsor Hotel. He had represented himself as being employed by a Birmingham, Ala., trucking concern.

Four Washington Scouts Trekking C&O Canal Route

Four Washington Boy Scouts, attempting to "outdo" Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and his C&O Canal hiking party, set out yesterday from Hancock on the fourth leg of their journey to Great Falls.

The group arrived in Hancock Sunday night about 9 o'clock and reported they are finding the going "rough."

In the party are Jack Barclay, 17, of 4737 MacArthur Boulevard, NW; Brooks Harding, 14, of 5515 Sherrier Place NW; John Stanton, 18, of 5400 Galena Place NW; and John Warfield, 13, of 5529 Sherrier Place, NW.

The hiking party, all members of the famed "Hooded Cobra Patrol" of Troop 61 at Potomac Heights Community Church, were met at Hancock Sunday night by young Barclay's father, Col. John A. Barclay, Alden Struble, Explorer Scout advisor, and Andre Conrad, 17, member of another Scout troop. Struble and Conrad expect to continue with the four boys along the canal route.

Mrs. Barclay, reported from Washington that the boys had found the going rough and been held up by heavy rain of the weekend. She said the boys found a hunting lodge along the way Saturday and managed to keep dry there.

The boys have instructions to call if they get into trouble. Mrs. Barclay said.

Yesterday's hike of 15 1/4 miles will take them to Lock 48 on the canal. Today they will hit Williamsport and Falling Waters, approximately 90 miles from here. Tomorrow they expect to reach Shepherdstown, 107 miles from Cumberland.

Thursday, the hiking group will be joined by Lt. John Madigan, instructor of cadets at Western High School, when they reach Brunswick, 125 miles from the starting point.

Friday, the group will hike another 19 1/4 miles to White's Ferry; back on the last big leg of 18 1/4 miles Saturday and finish up at Great Falls with a 6 1/2 mile trek on Sunday.

Barclay, a Life Scout, said Justice Douglas' hike did not beat the Scouts to the punch.

"We planned this for the Easter vacation period long before that other hike," he said, adding "It's do or die for us."

Mrs. Roeder Asks Progress Report On Job Rating Plan

Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder said yesterday the various commissioners should be asked to "sit in" on conferences with the committee setting up the job classification program for the city.

Speaking at the meeting of the Mayor and Council, Mrs. Roeder wanted to know what progress is being made and was told by Mayor Roy W. Eves that the committee is still at work.

Mrs. Roeder said she had been to a meeting of the Civil Service Commission on the subject, but since then knew only that men in her department had said they were called before the group. She said she feels the commissioner should also be in on the meetings because she understood findings will help settle a number of problems.

Mrs. Roeder added she was not blaming the committee, made up of personnel officials of three local industries. She added they "are doing a fine job," but she wants to be kept informed on progress.

Both Mayor Roy W. Eves and Commissioner William V. Keegan recalled that at a meeting with the council, the committee and council had agreed "they (the committee) should call in the bosses," as Keegan put it.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said he had attended such a meeting and felt that some of the questions asked, which concerned finer points of the job, could be better answered by the auditor than the commissioner.

Mrs. Roeder also wanted to know the status of the Frederick Street improvement project.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said that plans, tentatively approved by Federal Bureau of Public Roads, will be taken to the State Roads Commission in Baltimore this Thursday.

Last step in the preliminaries is a review of plans by the SRC and bids should be asked soon after that, it was said.

Parley Group Picked By Kelly Workers

A five-man negotiating committee was selected Saturday night at a meeting of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America (CIO).

It includes William G. Rice, president; Leo Barkman and Stanley Zorick, representing the mechanical departments, and A. E. Johnson and A. C. Lewis, representing the production departments.

The union has informed the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company of its desire to reopen wage negotiations under terms of the two-year pact signed March 24, 1953.

Talks between the company and union will start May 3.

Man Gets Year in Prison On Burglary Count

Associate Judge George Henderson yesterday gave one of two men charged with burglaries a year in the House of Correction and held in abeyance the sentence against the other man.

Frank Leroy Casteel, 32, Cecelia Street, received the prison sentence. An additional two-year sentence against Casteel was suspended, and he will be on parole for five years after he completes the one year term.

The other defendant, Everett Lloyd Hines, 30, was not sentenced yesterday in Circuit Court. On the plea of Clarence Shutter, his attorney, the court will see what can be done about having him placed in an institution for mental treatment. Shutter said Hines was injured about the head when 11 years of age and has the mentality of a six-year-old boy.

Hines has a long list of burglaries on his record, and took part in four breaking and entering this year. He entered a tavern on North Centre Street, a pool room on Pine Avenue and the Young Restaurant on Bedford Road. Hines also broke into a residence on Braddock Farms and stole $140 in a cash and a topcoat and jacket.

Casteel was implicated in only two of the burglaries. His Army record was bad, according to a Federal Bureau of Investigation report received by the authorities.

Butler Will Aid Parkway Project

Senator John Marshall Butler (R-Md) has assured the city he will lend his efforts to obtaining federal funds for the C&O Parkway project.

In a letter to Mayor Roy W. Eves, read at yesterday morning's meeting of the Mayor and Council, Butler said he will thoroughly explore the matter with the Bureau of the Budget, do all he can and keep the city informed of developments.

Three Men Are Sentenced In Auto Stripping Case

Three Bowman's Addition men were sentenced to a year in the House of Correction yesterday in Circuit Court by Associate Judge George Henderson on charges of malicious destruction of property and larceny.

The three also were given suspended two-year sentences and paroled for five years on a second count in the indictment.

A fourth man implicated in the case will be sentenced after the court receives a report on his background from the parole officer, David M. Steele.

A year in the House of Correction was given to Robert George Hott, 26, and Thomas Carl Hott, 25, his brother, and Robert Kline Miller, 28.

The court is awaiting a report on Robert Eugene Lee, 22, before deciding the sentence.

The four men entered guilty pleas to stripping the automobile of Robert F. Baker, Columbia Street, after the vehicle had become disabled on Valley Road about three miles from this city.

The machine was damaged to the extent of about $600 and was a total loss, except for what it would bring in salvage.

Leslie Clark, attorney for the men, said they were victims of a lack of interest in anything worthwhile due to unemployment and drinking. He asked for a parole for the men with strict terms of observance of the law and ab-stenance from intoxicants. The possibility of Lee receiving a suspended sentence was mentioned by Judge Henderson, with the proviso of reimbursement to Baker for damages.

Both Robert and Thomas Hott were found guilty, before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason, on motor vehicle charges, but six month sentences in the Maryland House of Correction were suspended because they were already under sentence in Circuit Court.

Meeting On Water Plans Postponed

A meeting on plans for the further modernization of the Lake Gordon water plant was postponed yesterday morning pending an inspection by an official of the Pennsylvania water agency.

The city has said it believes filtration work primary at the plant, but Pennsylvania has insisted the face of the Gordon dam be repaired.

The meeting was originally scheduled for 11 a. m. yesterday. The Pennsylvania official is from Harrisburg and Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, said that state makes periodic inspections of its dams. The neighboring state official was asked here in order to get his opinion, Nuzum added.

Joe Ann Squires Becomes Bride Of Marshall L. Barbe

Miss Joe Ann Squires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren L. Squires, Montreal Avenue, became the bride of Marshall Louis Barbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barbe, 224 Beall Street, April 17.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 p. m., in Grace Baptist Church, with Rev. W. Randolph Keefe officiating. Mrs. Eleanor Leutert was her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, while Gerald Barbe served as his brother's best man. A special program of nuptial music, both vocal and instrumental was presented.

The bride was attired in a cream colored brocade, street length gown, fashioned with full skirt and fur trimmed jacket. With it she wore brocade slippers and a small white lace hat trimmed with rhinestones. A bridal bouquet of white rosebuds completed her costume.

Her attendant wore a light blue brocade gown; similar to the bride's. With it she had dark blue accessories and a dark blue straw hat and carried a bouquet of assorted sweet peas.

Mrs. Squires chose a blue silk dress and coat for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore a blue and white hat, white gloves and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Barbe selected a dark blue silk taffeta dress with dark blue hat and a corsage of yellow rosebuds for the wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, where she was on the Sentinel staff, a member of the Tri-Hi-Y, a capella choir, and the National Honor Society. She is employed in the office of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

The bridegroom attended Allegany High School and during World War II, he served with the Navy. He is employed by the Vogel-Ritt Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Squires entertained with a wedding reception for their daughter and her bridal party at the Eagles Home following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the large cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The same theme was repeated in the table decorations, which were centered with a small bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip to Washington and Baltimore, the bride wore a dark blue suit with blue hat and black slippers and her corsage of roses. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Barbe will be at home to their friends on Humbird Street, after May 1.

Girl Scout Leaders Club To Explore Nature Tomorrow

Nature Exploring will be the theme for the Girl Scout Leaders Club meeting tomorrow evening. In the form of a work shop it will be held at 7:30 at the scout house, at which time there will be things to make and things to do for all age groups in scouting, Miss Olive Hurlburt said last evening.

Each person attending is asked to bring a nature object for the group to identify during the session.

Leaders of Intermediate troops will be given an opportunity to work on requirements for the Rambler Proficiency badge.

There also will be buzz sessions, group singing and games.

Senior scouts of Troop 12 have volunteered their services as baby sitters in order to make it possible for some leaders to attend the meeting. Requests for the services of a baby sitter should be made through Mrs. Edward Sokolowski, senior leader.

Hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. Robert Poling, Mrs. B. L. Saville and Mrs. Clarence Bittle.

Mrs. Karl Bachman has called a meeting of the Ma dinner for the Republican Women's Club for 1 to-day at the Chrine City Club.

Golf Group Opens Season

The Women's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club will have its opening luncheon meeting today at the club, beginning at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Edgar Vandegrift will preside and the new officers and standing committee chairmen will be introduced. A nine hole Kicker Handicap tournament will be played during the day. Cards also will be played during the afternoon.

Other board members are Mrs. W. Royce Hodges, Mrs. James Truka, Mrs. Edward Ryan, Mrs. Fuller Whitworth, Mrs. Elizabeth Dixon and Mrs. Frederic Eiler, Mrs. Arthur Brotemarkle, Mrs. Gordon Lee Bowie, Mrs. Louis Spoerl and Mrs. G. William Bibby.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 20 (INS)—One of the most fascinating stories I've ever read is the one about the Brink robbery, written by Joseph Dinnee, a Boston reporter. The story appeared in Collier's not long ago, and Ed Muhl, head of U. I., read it and bought it.

It's called "Five Bridges To Cross," and it tells about the relationship of the stool pigeons in this famed robbery to the people who committed the actual theft.

Jeff Chandler has been assigned the top role, and the picture starts soon.

From Harmony Hills Ranch in Hot Springs, Ark., comes a letter from Marjorie Lawrence saying, "If you recall, it was at a party Wynne Rocamora gave for me a few years ago in Hollywood that you urged me to write my story."

"Interrupted Melody" is the result. I wonder if you ever received one of the very first copies, which I had especially bound for you with your name on it in gold letters.

"I am delighted and thrilled that Eleanor Parker has been chosen to portray me in 'Interrupted Melody,' (and have written her) that she is one of the finest, loveliest and most dynamic actresses in Hollywood."

Elizabeth Taylor's bum knee doesn't keep her from looking like a doll. She calls herself "Gimpie," and although she limps a little her doctor tells her that she can return to work April 27. Until that date, MGM will shoot around her in "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

I really think Liz is enjoying being at home with her young son, although she says she does not want to keep the studio waiting one minute longer than is absolutely necessary.

A few days ago Lisa Ferraday flew out to wage a fight for the $50,000 insurance policy the late Pam Blumethal left her small daughter. In the will the insurance went to the child, but Mrs. Blumethal is contesting it.

While Lisa was here she made a deal for herself to make a picture at Columbia, so she'll be back again in Hollywood.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

John Aga is being sought to follow Fifi D'orsay at the Players—that's how beautifully he sings.

Cary Grant fell and broke his toe while taking his dog for a walk.

After a sneak preview of "The High and Mighty" John Wayne, Bob Fellows and Bill Wellman were all so happy that Wayne and Fellows made a two-picture deal with Bill right on the spot.

Maj. Gen. John Deane, who helped to distribute $11,000,000 among our Russian co-belligerents, and who was one of the first to put the finger on Red ingratitude, the wrote "Strange Alliance" heads Italian Swiss Colony Wines, San Francisco. The firm's list includes a red wine.

Maj. Gen. William H. Draper, who helped reshape Europe with U. S. money, is now president of Mexico Power and Light. Gen. Mark Wayne Clark, whose book "From the Danube to the Yalta" you should read, is president of the Citadel, famed old military academy at Charleston, S. C.

Gen. George C. Kenney, MacArthur's chief aide, heads the National Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation and also is president of the Air Force Association. MacArthur, as is well known, is chairman of the board of Remington Rand, whose vice president in charge of advanced research is Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, the man who coordinated the opening of the atomic age.

Adm. "Bull" Halsey dipped unhappily and briefly into the shipping business, now is U. S. representative at the 10th anniversary celebration in Australia of the Battle of the Coral Sea. Adm. Richard Conolly is president of Long Island University. The one and only Jimmy Doolittle, who bombed Tokyo 11 years ago, is a vice president of Shell Oil. Lt. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, commanding general of the Fifth Air Force, is a Kansas wheat farmer and a trustee of the Penrose Foundation, Colorado Springs. Colonels John Allison and "Flip" Cochran, boy masterminds of the glider invasion of Burma, are (respectively) V. P. of Northrop and a Hollywood scripter.

Public Spending Is Showing Only Slight Decline

WASHINGTON, April 19, (AP)—Despite an increase in unemployment, people are spending nearly as much money as they did last year, the Commerce Department said today.

But they are buying fewer automobiles and other durable goods, and are spending more for personal services such as medical care and education, the department said in its monthly survey of current business.

A 10 per cent income tax cut effective last January helped to keep buying power this year up to the level of last year, the report said, adding:

"The strength in consumer purchasing has been a sustaining market factor, during the business downturn of the past nine months."

In the third quarter of 1953, spending by the public for goods and services reached an annual rate of 231 billion dollars. This fell off to 230 billions in the fourth quarter, and has been maintained at 230 billions in the first quarter of this year, the study showed.

Thus, the public has cut its spending by less than one-half of one per cent while many other factors in the economy have showed much greater declines.

Consumer buying of goods has dropped off about two per cent since the third quarter of 1953, according to this study. The decline in purchasing of goods was "quite pronounced" in the durable goods line, where purchases fell off about seven per cent. Most of this drop was in buying of passenger automobiles and parts, the report stated. Purchases of non-durable goods declined very little.

Most of the money not spent for goods was shifted by the public to the purchase of services, such as medical care, education, cleaning and repairs, and other personal services.

The shift has meant a drop in production in the durable goods industry, where the growth in unemployment has centered.

The public, the department said, puts about 93 per cent of its disposable income (income left after taxes) into purchases of goods and services. It said that during the post-war period spending for food has taken a higher share of disposable income than before the war.

Civil Defense Official Accused Of Larceny

BALTIMORE, April 19 (AP)—William J. Muth, suspended publicity director of civil defense in Baltimore, was charged by the grand jury today with larceny of $2,400 in agency funds.

Muth also was charged with malfeasance in office. He posted $2,500 bail.

City officials suspended Muth last week and asked the state's attorney to investigate his use of money for publicity, particularly on television and radio.

Muth's budget this year for publicity was $12,000. Muth is a former Baltimore City councilman.

Col. Frank Milani, civil defense director, said last week he suspended Muth at the request of Thomas N. Biddison, city solicitor.

Biddison said he investigated "certain accounts of the public relations director" at the request of Howard Beck, city auditor, and Milani.

"This investigation has developed certain facts which I believe merit the attention of the state's attorney," Biddison said.

Baltimore Cop Slayer Hunted

BALTIMORE, April 19 (AP)—Off-duty police and the FBI who joined in a search today were unable to find a man who shot and killed a Baltimore policeman and then is believed to have staged a holdup.

Capt. Millard Horton said the description of a man who held up two occupants of a house this morning fitted that of the killer of Patrolman Aubrey L. Lowman.

The cop was shot last night while standing alongside a stolen car.

An hour later, two men were robbed by a man in a house three blocks away. Andrew Selby said the robber had a gun and took some clothes from him.

A woman who said she was with the cop killer was picked up for questioning as were two brothers of a man police believe did the shooting.

The police issued an alert for a cross-eyed Negro. The broadcast for his arrest was directed especially to Georgia and Virginia police. It cautioned he was armed and had boasted "he won't be taken alive."

7 Babies Die In Fire

READING, England, April 19 (AP)—Fumes and smoke from a fire in the nursery of the Dellwood Maternity Hospital brought death today to eight new-born babies.

Seven other babies, some very ill, were moved to another hospital and placed in oxygen tents.

The lady slipper belongs to the orchid family.

Widow Is Named West Virginia's Mother Of Year

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 19 (AP)—Mrs. Antoinette Tiano Colombo, a Nutter Fort widow whose 21 children—ranging in age from 17 to 48—are scattered from the nation's capital to the California coast, has been named West Virginia Mother of the Year, Mrs. John S. Harvey said today.

Mrs. Harvey, chairman of the West Virginia Mothers Committee of the Golden Rule Foundation, said the selection makes Mrs. Colombo eligible for consideration as the American Mother of the Year.

She was presented to the state committee by Mrs. Edna Young, regent of the Catholic Daughters in Clarksburg.

Pollack's Son Is Sued By Wife

BALTIMORE, April 19 (AP)—The wife of Morton C. Pollack, son of a Baltimore Democratic leader and state delegate, sued him today for alimony and charged him with misconduct.

The suit identified a correspondent by three initials, claimed she is married and that her full name would be disclosed at a court hearing.

It is also alleged that during last year's session of the General Assembly her husband told her he was detained overnight in Annapolis while "he was actually registered at a hotel in Baltimore."

Pollack is a delegate from the Fourth District where his father, Jack, is the leader. The younger Pollack was appointed to the House in 1952.

His father also is involved in court. He is to be tried next Monday in Cumberland on charges of trying to obstruct justice in a morals case.

The younger Pollack was married July 8, 1951. His wife said he left her around last Nov. 27 after a quarrel over her complaint that he "consistently remained away from home until 4 a.m. and had been coming in quite intoxicated."

Mrs. Pollack also charged in her suit that around last Jan. 20 her husband moved into a apartment with the woman identified by initials.

Her suit asks only for alimony and no divorce.

Shortage Of Males

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—A lot of women face an old maid's future in England and Wales. A census report showed today the female population outnumbered the male by more than 1½ million—22,917,000 to 21,249,000.

'Friendly' Lion Mauled Naturalist, Author

DURHAM, England, April 19 (AP)—An African lion, untamed "but friendly and with a good character" today mauled his new master, the author of a book on how to train wild animals.

The lion turned on James Walton,

50, a naturalist and author. Seeing his plight, his wife shot the lion between the eyes.

Walton was taken to hospital with neck, shoulder and arm injuries and suffering from severe shock. His condition was described as "serious but improving."

State To Open New Expressway Section

SHAWAN, Md., April 19 (AP)—Maryland will take another four-mile step tomorrow on an expressway from Baltimore directly north to Pennsylvania.

The second four-mile section of the so-called Baltimore-Harrisburg Expressway will be opened to traffic by Gov. McKeldin. The new strip is from Shawan Road to Bel-fast Road.

It is an extension of the first section opened last December at Timonium. Now being built to the south of Timonium is a dual highway that eventually will connect with a beltway that will carry traffic around Baltimore to southern roads.

The two expressway sections now opened are only two lanes. Two more are to be added in the future making it a four-lane parkway.

Maryland's highway building program calls for the two lanes to be extended to Parkton, 4½ miles from the Pennsylvania border, within the next four years.

The expressway roughly parallels Route 111 known as the York Road. The old road also is undergoing widening and straightening.

Warm water is better for sprinkling clothes than cold because it penetrates the fabric more thoroughly.

Brazil Grid Fans Rough On Referee

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, April 19 (AP)—Football fans, angry over loss of a game Sunday, beat the referee into unconsciousness, set his dressing room afire, and attempted to set afire the truck which was used to remove him to the hospital.

The attack occurred at Marilia, Sao Paulo State, where the hometown team lost to Bauru.

Determined to get revenge, hundreds of fans swarmed onto the field, calling the referee, Joao Benedito Siqueira, a "robber." Members of the two teams exchanged blows, police fired shots into the air, and a boy was seriously wounded before the referee escaped to his dressing room.

The mob invaded his sanctuary through the roof, set the room afire, and dragged him outside where he was beaten and kicked.

Brownell's Program To Fight Communism

Attorney General Brownell, in presenting his suggestions for new legislation to a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, strongly opposed a federal law outlawing the Communist party in this country. In his view, such a law would not help to solve the problem but would make it worse.

To make it a crime to join the Communist party, he said, would send the movement all the way underground. The result would be, he feared, that the "already difficult investigatory job of the FBI" would be made still harder. Also, such a law would raise complicated constitutional issues that would inevitably be tested at great length in the courts.

All this, the attorney general feared, would interfere with actions now being taken to make the movement ineffectual by bringing the party and its members under the glare of publicity. He listed, instead, 10 suggestions for tightening the laws against subversion.

Of course, the Communist party cannot make a convincing case for a claim that it is in fact a political party maintaining allegiance to the United States. However, if the criterion of effectiveness is to be applied to any proposal, it should be applied to all. It is in order to ask whether Attorney General Brownell's 10-point program, in whole or in part, will meet the test of practicality.

Congress will look into that point and will also balance the need against the danger of abuse implicit in some of the Brownell suggestions. What makes this legislative problem so difficult is past complacency over the Communist menace. When the Dies Committee of the House was dredging up the facts years ago, it received lukewarm support from Congress and opposition from the other branches of the government.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Oppenheimer And Liberalism

For many months, I received, as did thousands of other Americans, circular brochures issued in Chicago by atomic scientists, many of them still employed by the Government of the United States, who differed with the official policy of this country on the use of information concerning atomic fission and the prospects of a thermonuclear bomb.

For the layman, not particularly versed or interested in science or in the disputes among scientists, these brochures presented the picture of employees of the Government opposing their employer. The argument ran that, as citizens, these government-employed scientists had as much right as any other citizen to express their opinions or to conduct a propaganda in favor of their point of view. Most of them supported the concept that secrecy in this field was wrong; the expansion of these bombs as instruments of war was immoral; that the Baruch plan in the United Nations was unduly anti-Russian and so forth.

The immorality of the expansion of the bomb into more terrible instruments of warfare cannot be denied, but the immorality of leaving this country defenseless and a prey to Russia also cannot be denied. It seemed to me at the time that these scientists were suffering from the guilt of their own ingenuity. On the other hand, so much of their argument was in line with the Russian position in the United Nations that it was impossible not to wonder whether they were not guided more by their politics than by moral indignation.

J. Robert Oppenheimer's opposition to the development of the thermonuclear bomb must be related in time to his knowledge of the work on the thermonuclear bomb that was actually being done in Soviet Russia. He should have known how much knowledge of this subject Dr. Klaus Fuchs possessed; he probably knew how much the well-informed Britishers, Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess, possessed. We all know that Dr. Bruno Pontecorvo escaped to Russia in 1950 and that it was generally presumed that he took with him a sample of tritium, which is a chief ingredient of the hydrogen bomb. A scientist of Dr. Oppenheimer's stature could assess the danger of Pontecorvo's desertion.

Men who are employed on these secret defensive measures have a free choice to accept such employment and to give up their private opinions or to refuse such employment and to hold to their private opinions. Professor Francis W. Coker, of Yale University, stated the case of the modern liberal as follows:

"When the modern liberal has challenged the reasonableness or justice of particular orders made by official spokesmen for a ruling group, he has sometimes been rebuffed as an advocate of disorder or disunity; or if he has appealed for the restoration of earlier freedoms, he has been rebuffed as one vainly trying to revive outmoded ideas. When, in a community with a democratic form of government, he challenges the justice or practicality of a particular decision of the official political majority, he is represented as rejecting the principle of majority rule..."

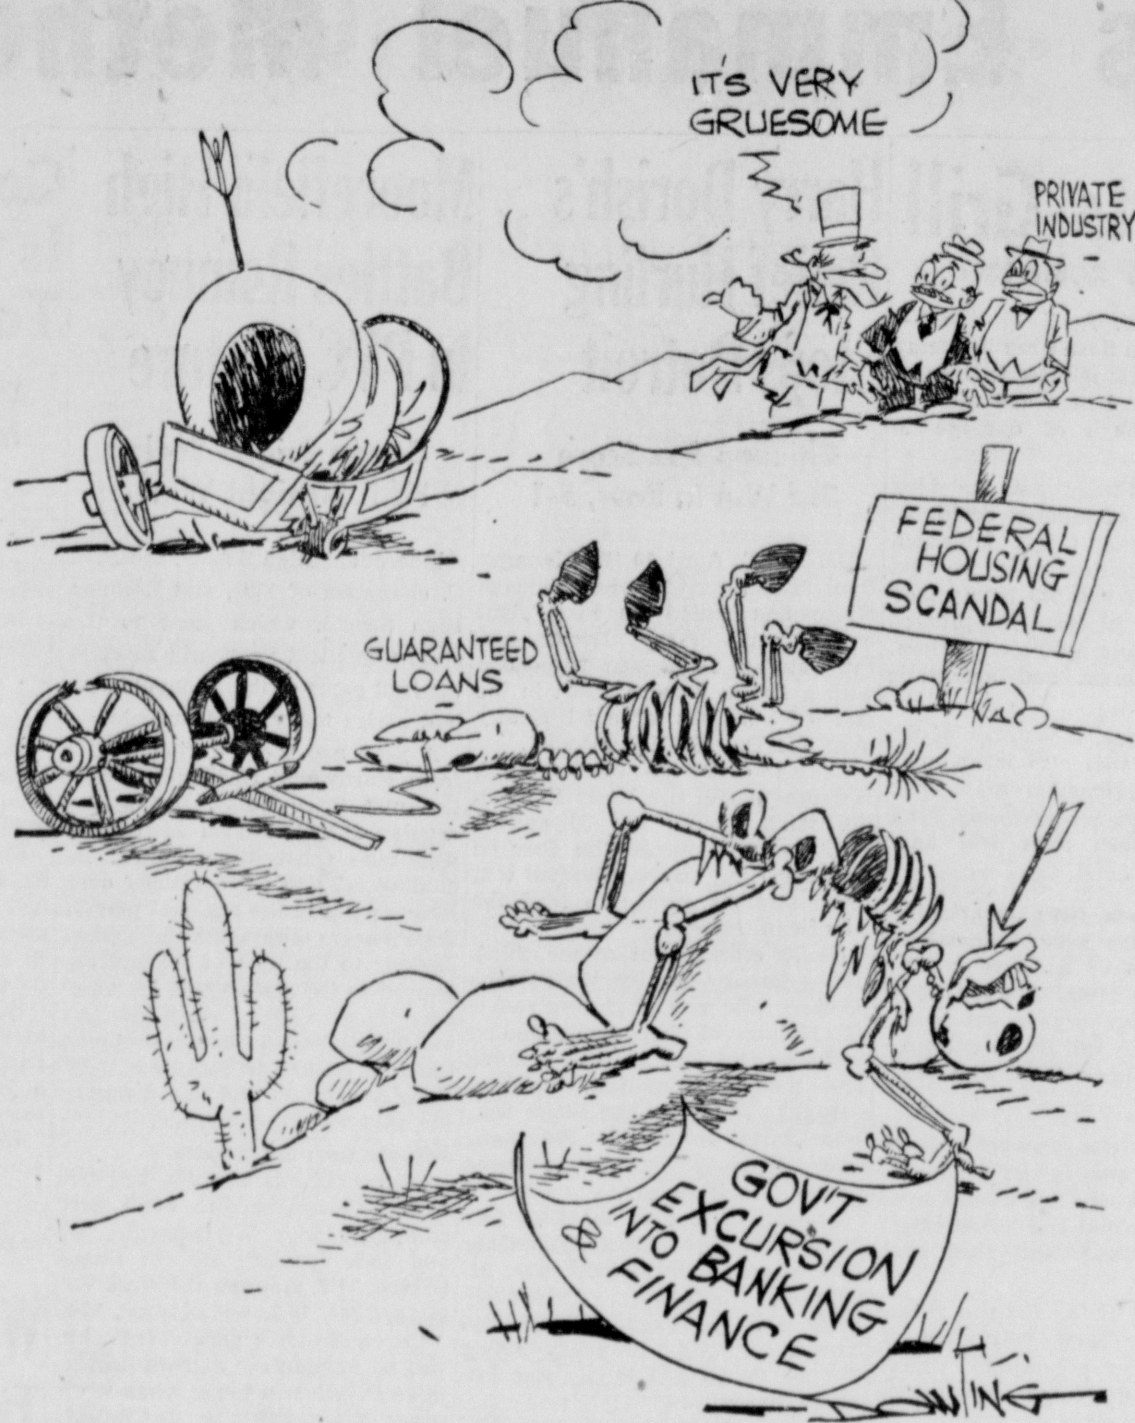

This, of course, relates to the man who is not bound by commitments other than his own sense of responsibility. The atomic scientist, however, accepted employment in what is actually a military operation, the provision of adequate weapons for defense of the United States. Such persons were bound to secrecy because the government so chose and the government alone has the legal right to determine, either by act of Congress or by executive regulation, what is to be secret and what is to be publicly disclosed. If each private citizen were to use his own judgment and choice in such matters, there would be no orderly government; there would be anarchy.

Actually, what the scientists of liberal persuasions sought to establish was that private opinion ought to prevail over government decisions when a conflict of view appeared. That undoubtedly was the view of Julius Rosenberg. His advocates adopted the view that as there was no secret about the atomic sciences, he disclosed nothing secret. It is a view widely held these days. The answer is that it is for the government to decide what it wishes to disclose about its weapons.

This, it seems to me, is the issue in the Oppenheimer case. When Dr. Oppenheimer was approached by Haakon Chevalier to disclose secrets, his responsibility was to report instantly. That he did not do. The rest is commentary.

Arrival At The Scene Of The Massacre

Variations Dot Stories Of Ex-Communist Informer

WASHINGTON.

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

Just what sort of witness is being used by the Justice Department and the congressional investigating committees, to attack the loyalty of citizens of this republic? The question is sharply posed by the case of Paul Crouch.

Crouch is an ex-Communist informer who gets $25 per diem from the Justice Department when he is doing his stuff. Since he describes himself as "employed by the government," being an informer seems to be his main source of income. He is the man who has made the most serious charges against Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, both to the Justice Department and to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and his fellow investigators.

Now consider the following testimony that was once given by Crouch himself, under oath, concerning an untruthful letter he had written about an associate: "I am in the habit," said Crouch to the court, "of writing letters to my friends and imaginary persons, sometimes the kings and other foreign persons, in which I place myself in an imaginary position. I do that to develop my imaginary powers. That is why this letter is semi-fiction. Part of it is true and part of it is not."

The imaginative letter - writer, who has now become the professional testifier, was born 51 years ago on a North Carolina farm. He was clearly an infant prodigy, with access to a library without known parallel in the rustic South of that simple and remote period.

Served In Alcatraz
"Prior to the age of 12," he once told the Subversive Activities Control Board, "I had been reading the Communist Manifesto, Value, Price, and Profit, Wage, Labor, and Capital as well as popular Socialist papers." Then he put away such childish things. "After the age of 12," he loftily explained, he "proceeded to more serious works," which led eventually into the Communist party.

Some mild diseases never are publicized even though they sweep through entire communities. Devil's gripe (epidemic pleurisy) is typical. This disorder has been reported from all parts of the world, including Iceland and Texas. Yet I venture to say, few have heard of or would recognize it.
Most victims encounter acute pain about the midriff of one or both sides. Pain is sharp and most noticeable around the lower chest or upper abdomen, along the area that corresponds roughly to the attachment of the diaphragm. Discomfort is aggravated by move-

In 1925 when he was an enlisted man in the U. S. Army in Hawaii, Crouch was tried for seeking to form a secret revolutionary organization. It was in this trial that the imaginative letter cropped up. Crouch was convicted, sentenced, and served about three years in Alcatraz as a military prisoner. In the face of these facts, Crouch has complained strongly about being called an ex-convict. Call him, then, what you will.

On emerging from Alcatraz, he became a professional Communist functionary. He remained in the party until some time in the '40s. Just when he finally broke with the party is not clear; but he has testified that he discussed communism at length with an FBI agent in 1946 in Brownsville, Tex.

Under oath, Crouch stated that this historic interview with the FBI man, took place in the presence of County Judge Oscar B. Dancy, who was, he said warmly, his "personal friend from my home county." Judge Dancy has now told these reporters for the record that this story is simply "not true" - as far as he knows he never saw Crouch in his life.

Baering Down on The News

For some unregistered reason Attlee, Morrison and Bevan make smoke-talk with stink bombs. They don't like America and they always will.

Attlee, Morrison and Bevan are high-dogging to the umbrage degree because our scientists have been taking giant steps past the old Fiji fire-walkers.

Crouch has been telling his story a long time now, and this has given the opportunity for an astonishing number of interesting variations. He has, for example, given six quite different and conflicting accounts of his attendance at meetings of the Communist Party Central Committee.

Many Variations
Again, he has represented himself at one time as building "a vast apparatus in the armed forces of the United States," and at another time as supervising another apparatus "for the purpose of supplying the Soviet Union with information regarding scientific experiments..." But on a third occasion, he has sworn that he only interested himself in bar room talk. And when he made his fourth try, he said flatly that he "did not obtain any military secrets from this country."

Rather more than a year ago these reporters described how Crouch had sworn he met an accused government official, and discussed communism with him in the presence of a third party. The third party had branded Crouch's story as untrue with the same fine lack of belief on.

One of McCarthy's public lickspittles has recently declared that it is a mark of "leftism" to publish the facts about such men as Crouch. Surely we have reached a very strange pass, when it is "leftism" instead of good Americanism to point out that the government has a duty to investigate the reliability of the informers it hires. If we must have informers in America, let them at least be men who tell their stories in a way that carries a little conviction.

Devil's Grippe, Acute Fibrositis May Hit In Epidemics

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

ments of the chest wall such as coughing, sneezing, exercise, laughing, or taking a deep breath. For this reason, it is easily mistaken for pleurisy. Fever usually accompanies pain; it lasts two or three days then disappears. In addition, headache and tenderness and swelling of the parts are common.

The site of the pain varies from one epidemic to another and may shift from day to day. In some instances, soreness is most noticeable in the chest and may be mistaken for coronary occlusion or pneumonia. In others, distress is on the underside of the diaphragm and mimics gall bladder disease or appendicitis. As a rule, complete recovery occurs by the end of the week.

A virus is suspected as the causative agent. Within the last few years, most scientific fingers point toward the Coxsackie virus. This bug is named after the town of Coxsackie, N. Y., where it was isolated by a group of scientists studying a peculiar summer epidemic of sore throat and fever among children. The relationship between the virus and devil's gripe was evident when three laboratory workers came down with a characteristic attack of epidemic pleurodynia while working on these experiments.

Acute fibrositis is another malady that may enter a community in epidemic proportions. Sufferers complain of pain in the fibrous tissue adjacent to certain groups of muscles. The back, the scalp, neck, or shoulder blade area is selected. This variety of fibrositis is related to epidemic pleurodynia which affects the muscles of the diaphragm.

Two years ago, Chicago physicians were besieged with numerous cases of bursitis of the shoulder and elbow. The majority of victims lived a sedentary existence and could recall no injury. It is conceivable that inflammation was on a contagious basis. To my knowledge, there were no laboratory studies but the epidemic had some of the earmarks of a viral

Adm. Strauss Fears Oppenheimer Case May Alienate Nation's Top Scientists

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Inside facts as to how the Atomic Energy Commission happened to suspend the man who built the atom bomb go back to a congressional hearing when Dr. Oppenheimer tangled publicly with Adm. Lewis Strauss.

Senator McCarthy at that time was not involved. He decided to jump aboard the Oppenheimer story only after the AEC investigation was well under way, and because he recognized it as a good way to get back in the headlines.

But as a result of McCarthy's jump, Admiral Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was scared to death last week over where the probe he started was heading.

To friends he confided that he was sorry he ever brought the Oppenheimer matter up. Relatedly he realizes that he's stirred up a national hornet's nest, played right into McCarthy's hands, and alienated some of the nation's top scientists — men essential to his success as AEC chairman.

It was about one year ago — May 1953 — that McCarthy first thought of "going after Oppie," but rejected the idea on the advice of friends. They advised that Dr. Oppenheimer's record was well known, had been thoroughly probed by the House Un-American Activities Committee when Vice President Nixon and Senator Mundt of South Dakota were members, and any investigation now would backfire. So one year ago McCarthy decided against it, never dreaming that Admiral Strauss and the White House would play right into his hands.

of hesitation shown by Judge Dancy. It was suggested that this kind of hired informer was at the very best a dubious investment for the U. S. government.

It has been more recently shown in this space that Crouch swore he joined with Dr. Oppenheimer and Dr. Joseph Weinberg in a Communist meeting at the Oppenheimer house in Berkeley, Calif. On the date Crouch gave, all the evidence indicates Oppenheimer had left Berkeley for a long holiday in New Mexico, and that Weinberg was also about 500 miles away. It was further shown that this marked peculiarity in Crouch's evidence apparently struck the officials of the Justice Department. At any rate, the department did not ask Crouch to testify on this vital point, when the Weinberg case came to public trial.

There was a minor error in this last report—the date of the alleged Communist meeting in the Oppenheimer house should have been given as 1941 rather than 1945. But the transposition of numerals does not effect the enormously grave issue that is raised by this instance and others like it.

Judge Dancy has plainly accused Crouch of untruths, and so has at least one other competent witness. No man in his senses can read Crouch's multitudinous, widely various, and often highly peculiar accounts of his own past and conclude that this man is a witness to be relied on.

One of McCarthy's public lickspittles has recently declared that it is a mark of "leftism" to publish the facts about such men as Crouch. Surely we have reached a very strange pass, when it is "leftism" instead of good Americanism to point out that the government has a duty to investigate the reliability of the informers it hires. If we must have informers in America, let them at least be men who tell their stories in a way that carries a little conviction.

Strauss Retaliated

Strauss meanwhile became chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission on July 2. Almost the first thing he did, five days afterward, was order secret documents withdrawn from Oppenheimer and later he initiated a full-scale probe.

Those who have worked in the AEC say Strauss had developed a violent prejudice against Oppenheimer ever since Strauss, a Republican, had sided with Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican, in his charges that AEC chairman David Lilienthal had been guilty of "incredible mismanagement."

Strauss, then an AEC Commissioner, testified generally against Lilienthal that the AEC program of exporting radioactive isotopes to be used in medical research for cancer, was dangerous because the isotopes might be used by a European power to produce weapons.

Strauss was followed on the witness stand by Oppenheimer who completely demolished the admiral's argument and made him look like a fool. The admiral is a bit vain, and can be vindictive. According to associates he never forgave Oppie.

Strauss insists that his name be pronounced as in "straws;" and though most of his life was spent on Wall Street as a partner of Kuhn, Loeb and Co., he emphasizes the point that he is a Virginian and maintains a 2,000-acre estate there.

A former secretary to Herbert Hoover, Strauss was one of the few reserve officers to be promoted to the rank of admiral during the war. In 1946 he was appointed by President Truman to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Oppie Refuses To Quit

Strauss resigned in 1950 after the abortive Hickenlooper probe, but was reappointed last year by Eisenhower as chairman. Among the first things he did was start a probe of the man who had disagreed with him on isotopes, and appoint David "Fatty" Teepie, a glorified Washington gumshoeman as his special assistant.

Teepie, a friend of McCarthy's assistant Don Surine, had served under Senator Hickenlooper when the congressional Atomic Committee was probing the AEC, but was demoted by the late Sen. Brien McMahon. No friend of Oppenheimer, Teepie has been considered a link between McCarthy and the AEC.

Meanwhile, Strauss' probe of Oppenheimer, which began last summer, had dug up no new facts; so on December 21 the admiral asked Oppenheimer to come see him.

In the room with Strauss when Oppenheimer arrived was Maj. Gen. Kenneth D. Nichols, AEC general manager.

"Someone," said Strauss, "has revived these old charges against you."

Strauss did not reveal that he himself had withdrawn secret papers from Oppenheimer five days after he assumed office in July. But he did urge Oppenheimer to resign as an AEC consultant. In fact, most of their meeting was spent trying to persuade Oppenheimer to resign. Strauss wanted him to go quietly, though he warned that the alternative was suspension.

Two days later, December 23, Oppenheimer went back to see the admiral, handed him a letter stating that he couldn't possibly resign in the face of the absurd charges made against him, and that he intended to fight the whole thing out. The admiral in reply handed Oppenheimer the letter of suspension signed by General Nichols recently made public.

Two weeks later Oppenheimer wrote the AEC asking for formal hearings. It was at this point that Strauss became uneasy. Though he had taken the precaution of discussing the matter with Eisenhower, and had sold like on the idea of a security review, he was fearful of the public reaction in case of a leak.

And as expected, the leak occurred shortly thereafter to Senator McCarthy. McCarthy immediately recognized that for the first time, Oppenheimer had become "fair game."

Allies Show Solid Front

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—There is something inspiring about the resolute-ness with which President Eisenhower has proclaimed anew America's fidelity to the principle of collective security as against the policy of isolated aloofness which prevailed two decades ago.

For in this age of the atomic bomb, and the intercontinental bomber the old idea of the two-ocean defense with a strong navy has been superseded by the more realistic concept that America's first line of defense is in Europe far away from our shores.

What the President has just said in his momentous pronouncement is that the United States is committed to the defense of all of free Europe, including Germany, and that those abroad who have had misgivings about the firmness of our view can dispel them now.

The fact that Mr. Eisenhower issued his statement just after the return of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles from conferences with the heads of the British and French governments means that in advance of the Geneva Conference an Allied front of unmistakable solidarity is being presented. Mr. Dulles by his indefatigable labors and personal persuasiveness has brought to a dramatic climax a policy that didn't start with this trip but with many visits he has made to Europe in the last fifteen months.

Part Of Master Plan

Nor is the skill of Mr. Dulles and his statesmanlike approach to the tangled problems of the world fully revealed by the phrases of the statements themselves. What is beginning to be realized here is that the timing of certain statements and the careful preparation through discussions with the National Security Council and members of the Foreign Relations Committee of both parties in Congress is all part of a master plan to prevent a third world war. It tells the potential aggressor explicitly what to expect if he misconstrues our pacific attitude as weakness.

The Eisenhower statement is not in itself an executive agreement, but an interpretation. It is not a new commitment, but an explanation of an existing obligation. The key to it all is the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which the Senate ratified by an overwhelming vote. It provides that an attack on any one of the thirteen other member countries will be regarded as if it were an attack on the United States itself. That's why American troops now are in Europe and an Allied command is set up in Paris. That's why Moscow is so anxious to break up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, for it is designed as a deterrent to Soviet aggression.

But Germany has not been permitted—due to French fears—to become a member of NATO and so the European Defense Community plan for continental countries only was devised. Germany ratified it, Britain last week said her troops would be integrated with EDC though she is not a member. America is not a member but would associate her troops with it in defense of continental Europe. France has been hesitant to ratify the European Defense Community agreement. There have been contentions by French politicians that America would withdraw from NATO as soon as the European Defense Community plan was consummated.

Policy Explicitly Projected

To ally such fears Mr. Eisenhower pointed out that American troops were committed under the NATO plan to stay in Europe as long as there is a threat to peace. He now spells out clearly that America counts on both the EDC and NATO plans to assure the defense of Europe and that American military strength will be integrated indefinitely in both.

Now, if France and Germany ever get to fighting again, America would have a free hand to decide what to do. But as things look today all the free countries including West Germany are together in showing a united front against the Soviet empire. The Communists have been trying to divide the Allies and frustrate their diplomacy but on the eve of the Geneva Conference the Allies are standing together as firmly as ever. This solidarity was of incalculable value before the Berlin Conference and it is a tremendously important factor on the eve of the Geneva Conference.

What a different page in history might have been written if those of us who urged American entry into the League of Nations in the 1920s had been able to persuade the Republican administrations of those years to adopt a policy of announcing in advance America's prospective military cooperation with France and Britain. Also what a profound impression on Hitler might have been made if President Roosevelt's so-called "Quarantine Speech" in Chicago in the 1930s, which so many of us supported, had been followed by as explicit a projection of American policy as President Eisenhower has just made. Maybe then the second world war would never have happened.

Green Candidate In Garrett For Maryland Senate

OAKLAND — Arthur H. Green, Swanton, Republican floor leader in the House of Delegates for the past three sessions, has announced his candidacy for the Garrett County seat in the State Senate. The announcement came after a conference of political leaders, when it was indicated that Senator Neil C. Fraley would not be a candidate for re-election.

Delegate Green has been a resident of Garrett County for 43 years, engaging in farming in the Swanton area in 1911. He followed this occupation until 1926 when he entered the merchandising field at Swanton where he owned a general store for 20 years. Following the sale of this business to his former clerk, R. E. Reckner, Green has been operating a school bus between Swanton and Oakland.

A veteran of World War I, Green served as a sergeant in G company, 313th Infantry, 79th Division. He was in the battle of the Argonne.

Correspondence was read from Mrs. Irene MacDonald, secretary of Allegany County Homemakers, thanking the club for their part in the pageant "America Sings."

Mrs. Margaret Haus volunteered to make a set of beaded hot dish mats to be sold. A letter from Alfred Benna, principal of Mt. Savage School was read thanking the club for another French Horn. This is the fifth instrument the club has donated to the school band.

Mrs. Anna Mary Beaver, family life chairman, reported on "Understanding Teen-agers."

Mrs. Doris Crowe will hold a card party at her home in Foundry Row for club members, with Mrs. Eula Frankenberg assisting with the arrangements.

Several members of the club will enter flower arrangements at the flower show sponsored by the Cumberland Civic Club on May 6 at Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Discussion was held concerning the "Old Time Vaudeville" and the "Silent Movies" which the club will present in June. Mrs. Mary Deffenbaugh is director; Mrs. Margaret Haus, music director; Mrs. Loretta Haus, stage manager; Mrs. Myrtle Sleeman, publicity chairman; Mrs. Faye Benna, ticket chairman.

Several members discussed the rural women short courses and urged other members of the club to attend.

The displays included, clothing for a small girl made by Mrs. For Rent: New 4 room apartment, garage. Phone Frostburg 865-J. Adv. N-T Apr. 20-21-22

YOU ONLY WISH FACTS
"ALL I WANT is the facts." That crisp sentence has been made famous to all American radio and television fans by the character known as Detective Joe Friday, played by Jack Webb, in the series of mysteries called "Dragnet." It should be exactly what you and your partner really want during your co-operative bidding. No bid by either of you ever expresses a wish to play the hand in a particular declaration. Any card simply gives information, each partner helping the other to decide the best he can what should be the final contract.

South took a pathetic thrashing in that improper contract. The diamond 2 lead to the J and K was followed by the spade A and K to disclose the bad news about West's trump holding. Three trump tricks for West plus a diamond for East beat the contract despite South's efforts to develop a throw-in against his left-hand opponent.

When the debacle had been recorded, North heard from South:

about the calamitous pass of the spade game when holding no trumps at all. He said that a 5-Clubs bid by North over it would have brought a raise to 6-Clubs, in which all thirteen tricks could have been taken. North's better bid of the Blackwood 4-No Trumps would have extracted enough facts to make either 7-Clubs or 7-No Trumps a desirable gamble.

"Your bidding of spades three times," pleaded North, "told me that you wanted to play the hand in spades."

"It did no such thing," answered South. "None of my bids ever expresses any wish, but only gives information, and I want you to do the same until we decide what to do. You had more facts to give me, but wouldn't."

South might have prevented the trouble with a Blackwood 4-No Trumps of his own instead of his third spade bid. The latter, however, should not have silenced North.

90 Candidates File As Deadline Arrives

GOP States Attorney, Senate Races Assured

Contests for the Republican nomination for State's Attorney and State Senator were assured for the June 28 primary election when opponents for the two incumbents filed with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors almost within seconds of the midnight filing deadline last night as the last of some 90 candidates filed.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., of Westernport, a member of the House of Delegates, filed for State's Attorney. He will oppose the incumbent, Paul M. Fletcher, who filed for re-election several weeks ago.

Earl E. Manges, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, filed for State Senator. He will oppose Robert B. Kimble, the incumbent, in the GOP primary.

The Westernport man's action just before last night's deadline assured that one new member will be elected to the House of Delegates. Whitworth has served eight years in the lower house in Annapolis.

All other incumbent office holders in Allegany County have filed for re-election.

The Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House basement was open until midnight as yesterday was the final day for filing for the June 28 primary, which is some 70 days off.

On the Democratic side, last minute candidates include William L. Wilson, this city, for State Senator, and Leslie J. Clark of Lonaconing for House of Delegates. Both will be unopposed in the Democratic primary.

The big Democratic contest will be for control of the State Central Committee. Some 21 different men and women have filed for the six positions.

He Had License For Flying Low

A state police officer, checking the highways the other evening in a patrol car, flagged down a speeding driver on McMullen Highway who was really "flying low" the cop stated.

And when the officer flagged him down and asked for the driver's license the flustered man mistakenly handed him a pilot's flying license.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Faulkner, 1822 Maryland Avenue, Washington, D. C., announce the birth of a daughter, April 16 at Hadley Memorial Hospital. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rice, 132 Humbird Street and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Faulkner, Ellerslie.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Facks, 413 Franklin Street, a son yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Alburts, 122 South Mechanic Street, a daughter yesterday.

Leaves For Florida

Mrs. Wilma E. Smith, 607 Shriver Avenue, wife of Harold R. Smith, and their triplet daughters, are seen here as they prepared to leave the Queen City station yesterday afternoon for Florida where Mrs. Smith will represent Maryland in a nation-wide homemakers contest for the title of Mrs. America. Robert Moore, vice president of the Jaycees, is congratulating Mrs. Smith and extending her the city's wishes for success in her venture. Mayor Roy W. Eves had earlier presented her a scroll and Maryland flag from Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. Left to right in the picture are the daughters, Wilma Rae, Wilda Rae, Mrs. Smith, Mr. Moore, and Willa Royce. Mr. Smith is with them.

Small Girl Missing In Pendleton County

A little curly-haired three-year-old girl is the object of a round-the-clock search in the wilds of Pendleton County, W. Va., mountains after she turned up missing Sunday morning while playing in the front yard at the home of her grandparents near Mouth of Seneca.

Several hundred volunteer searchers under the direction of West Virginia State Police from Franklin and Petersburg have trudged the rugged terrain of the Eastern Panhandle area since the little tot disappeared about 11 a.m. Easter Sunday.

The little girl is Shirley Alberta

Frank Treiber Pleads Guilty To Bookmaking

Masenhimer Flees Before Case Called

One man pleaded guilty yesterday to bookmaking charges before Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court but police are looking for his companion who disappeared shortly before their trial was to begin.

Frank Treiber, 448 Bedford Street, pleaded guilty to the 15-count betting indictment but the court did not pass sentence when his attorney Edward J. Ryan said Treiber was ill and had been admitted to Memorial Hospital several days ago for treatment and observation. He had been released from the hospital temporarily for his appearance in court yesterday, the attorney added.

Judge Henderson directed that Treiber's $500 bond be continued and gave permission for the slim Bedford Street man to return to the hospital, withholding sentence until his health is better.

Meanwhile, Curtis W. Masenhimer, Southern Hotel, who was arrested along with Treiber when police raided the Queen City Pool Room at 19 North Liberty Street March 19, disappeared from the Court House just prior to the start of the bookmaking trial.

Authorities said Masenhimer, who forfeited his $500 bond by his disappearance, had arrived at the Court House yesterday morning along with Treiber and had awaited the start of his trial for several hours. However when the bailiff called the trial Masenhimer could not be found.

Police checked through all the rooms and the basement of the court house but were unable to find any trace of Masenhimer. Checks at his home and known places he frequents brought no trace of the man.

Judge Henderson ordered the $500 bond posted for Masenhimer's appearance in court to be forfeited and indicated a bench warrant for his arrest would be issued this morning.

Motion Is Denied

The indictment against Treiber and Masenhimer was returned April 6 by the Grand Jury after police seized various gambling paraphernalia at the pool room on Liberty Street when a squad of five city policemen led by Lt. James E. Van conducted the raid. Included on the indictment was Anthony Antonakos, 511 Marshall Street, who is listed as the owner of the premises. Antonakos is free on $500 bond pending his trial this morning in Circuit Court.

Treiber, appearing with and troubled, was accompanied by his wife and son. When the trial was called, Ryan made a motion that the search warrant used by the police officers in the raid on Liberty Street be squashed but Judge Henderson overruled the motion. Ryan then entered a plea of guilty for his client.

Frank Treiber Pleads Guilty To Bookmaking

When they called the child she was nowhere to be found and the neighbor boy said he had last seen the little tot heading down the pasture toward State Route 28, the main highway off which the road-way to the farm house branches.

A search was immediately instituted but when several hours had elapsed and no trace of Shirley Alberta was found relatives called state police.

Police said the child could walk a distance of several hundred yards in any direction and enter terrain so rough and rugged that a grown person could easily get lost. The tot had been dressed in a dress, sweater and cap, shoes, socks and panties.

The sweater, cap and panties were found on the front lawn by the searchers who said the child spent the night clad only in her dress.

Hundreds of Volunteers
The hundreds of volunteers spent the entire day and night Sunday searching the area for traces of the missing girl without success. Bloodhounds joined the search yesterday.

Police said the initial search was not organized and very little was accomplished with some areas being thoroughly covered and others touched but little. Experienced searchers said that the noise of the tramping, milling searchers Sunday night probably drowned out any cries of the child which might have been heard.

Yesterday the state police organized the search in four shifts with groups working from 7 a. m. to 2 p. m., from 2 to 7 p. m., from 7 to 11 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m.

A map of the area is being marked off as searchers report the areas covered and last night about 15 groups of two persons were dispatched to different areas to remain throughout the night quietly listening for any sound that might give a clue to the whereabouts of the baby.

State police said they thought the child probably remained awake through most of the night which grew cold when temperatures dropped to about 35 degrees and then curled up somewhere to sleep during the day which was very warm.

Might Cry At Night
They thought the little girl might wake up hungry and frightened in the evening and begin crying, thus the searchers are spotted through the area to listen for any sounds in the night.

If the baby is heard and the searchers cannot find her police said, the spot would be marked on the map and thoroughly searched the next morning.

Besides state police, the sheriff's offices of Pendleton and Grant counties, Petersburg and Franklin volunteer firemen and the National Guard unit from Moorefield have joined the search. Boys from Petersburg High School, led by L. G. Starg, vo-ag teacher, also are participating.

Searchers checked a small creek near the property and drained deep well located on the farm without finding a trace of the child.

Police hope not to frighten the child during the search, particularly at night, and plan to continue looking for her until she is found.

Mrs. Maryland, Family Leave For Florida

Triplet's Mother Second To Arrive

Mrs. Harold Smith, her husband and 16-year-old triplet daughters were given a warm sendoff at the Queen City station yesterday afternoon, as they departed for Florida where Mrs. Smith will compete in a national cooking contest for the title of Mrs. America.

Mrs. Smith won local and state competition for the title of Mrs. Maryland and earned the journey to Florida.

Mayor Roy W. Eves presented Mrs. Smith with a scroll and a Maryland flag from Governor McKeldin, just before the Smith family boarded their train for Washington. From the Nation's Capitol they were scheduled to fly to Florida.

Jaycee Greetings
Robert Moore, vice president of the Junior Association of Commerce extended the greetings of his organization and the best wishes of the community. He also presented one of the Smith triplets with a rose corsage.

Mrs. Arthur Wolford, president of St. Luke's Sunday School class, presented Mrs. Smith with a corsage. Albert Tomsko of Albert's market presented one of the girls with a corsage, and Edward M. Monahan of the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company presented the fourth corsage.

Smith was presented a rose for his lapel by Miss Betty Wolf, home economist for the gas company.

After the presentations were taken, and a number of pictures taken, the crowd assembled cheered the Smith family aboard the train.

Last night from Ormond Beach, Florida, the Associated Press reported that the Smiths were the second group to arrive for the national event.

Brush Fire Quenched

Two engines and 15 men from the Corrigansville Volunteer Fire Department battled a grass and brush fire along State Route 36 in Upper Corrigansville last night about 10 p. m.

Believed caused by a lighted cigarette or match thrown from a car, the fire burned over about half an acre and for a time threatened a couple of garages. No damage was caused.

Red Cross Drive Leaders

Matthew J. Mullaney, John L. Dunkle, Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, Walter C. Haschert, Mrs. Harry Beneman, Chauncey M. Sanner and H. Lee Silcox look over the final audited report of the recent Red Cross drive as they assembled with other leaders and workers at a Victory dinner in the Fort Cumberland Hotel last night. The $35,000 goal was oversubscribed.

City Is Advised Repairs To Dam Can Be Deferred

Decision Clears Way For Filter Project

A city decision to use some $240,000 of available funds toward the modernization of the existing filters at the Lake Gordon filtration plant appeared virtually certain yesterday after an engineer of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters reported repairs to the Lake Gordon reservoir can be delayed as much as two years.

The inspection was made by Robert J. Alert, dam engineer for the Pennsylvania agency, at the request of Mayor Roy W. Eves in order to clear up a question as to whether the repairs to Lake Gordon should take precedence over the completion of the filter plant modernization plan.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said Alert reported, following an on-the-spot inspection, that the dam appeared sound from a structural standpoint, and that if the city plans to include repairs to the face of the dam in its overall modernization and rehabilitation program, his department will go along with any reasonable schedule.

Can Be Delayed

Alert told Commissioner Edwards he believed the facing of the dam could be delayed as much as two years without affecting structural strength.

The inspection disclosed that the downstream face of Lake Gordon and the wing walls on each side of the spillway are weathered, and that the concrete has begun to scale off in spots.

Alert also recommended that when the above repairs are made, the city should also repair the upstream face of the 1,300,000-gallon reservoir, adding this must be done when much of the water can be drained from the dam.

Also attending the conference were C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, William Marcan, assistant city engineer, and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Plans Are Delivered

In 1951, when the city embarked on long-range plans to modernize and enlarge its water system in nearby Pennsylvania, repairs to Lake Gordon was listed in the first phase of the work planned by Robert T. Register, Baltimore, consulting engineer.

The item was deferred, however, and the city proceeded to build six new filter units, begin modernization of the chemical house and repair the plant's clearwell, at a cost of $310,000.

Early this spring, Register delivered to the city plans for modernizing 12 old filter units and other work needed to give the city a top notch filtration plant designed to deliver 18,000,000 gallons of pure water daily, with a 25 per cent overload factor.

Funds now available will not be sufficient to do all of the work, so city officials have proposed that certain parts of the plan be deferred, so that a contract can be let immediately for the vital parts of the work.

The Weather

You would certainly be quite correct if you mentioned that yesterday was just about as nice a day available from the weatherman. The sun really shone as the mercury reached 87 degrees, the warmest day thus far this year. The forecast for today calls for partly cloudy skies and continued warm temperatures. The official low yesterday was 44 degrees and at 8 p. m. the mercury registered 75 degrees with a humidity reading of 28 per cent at 6 p. m.

HORACE P. WHITWORTH JR.

Whitworth Files For Election As State's Attorney

Opposes Fletcher In GOP Primary

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., attorney and member of the House of Delegates from Allegany County for the past eight years, last night filed his candidacy for state's attorney subject to the Republican primary election in June.

Whitworth's certificate of candidacy was filed at the office of the Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House just one minute before the filing deadline of midnight. His certificate was submitted by Fred D. Steiding who also filed his own candidacy for election to the Republican State Central Committee.

For the past two weeks there had been considerable conjecture as to whether Whitworth would seek the office of state's attorney or that of state senator. His decision to run for state's attorney means that he will oppose the present state's attorney, Paul M. Fletcher, in the Republican primary.

Wants Good Government

In announcing his candidacy, Whitworth said in a statement:

"In submitting my candidacy for state's attorney of Allegany County, I respectfully solicit the support of the people of this county. Several times during my term in the House of Delegates of the Maryland Legislature I have publicly stated that I would be a candidate for the state Senate in the June primaries. However, since my return to Allegany County in March many people have come to me and requested me to be a candidate for state's attorney. Frankly, until recently, I had been very much undecided.

"During the past eight years of my public life my sincere purpose always has been to serve all of the people in Allegany County fairly and honestly with good government, striving toward better economy, more jobs and seeing to it as far as possible that our Allegany County people received more home rule, and also their proportionate share from the State of Maryland, of the good things of life. It is with this good government purpose in mind that I solicit your support for state's attorney.

"I believe that at this time I can be of better service to the people of Allegany County in my legal professional capacity as state's attorney in view of recent trends in our county. It always has been my philosophy of life that public officials in any capacity should be servants of the people they represent. In my opinion the office of any state's attorney should be used to prosecute offenders of the law and not to persecute them. The office should seek to help law-abiding people in their hour of need and trouble and the office should always make an honest effort to bring justice to violators of the law regardless of their station in life, their spheres of influence or their social contacts.

"In the event that I should have the honor and the opportunity of representing the people of Allegany County as your state's attorney (Continued on Page 4, Col. 3)

County Board Must Adopt Levy Today

Commissioners Keep Silent About Tax Rate

Today the Allegany County Board of Commissioners must set the county's real estate tax rate for the fiscal year which starts July 1 and must also adopt the annual levy list for the county.

By law this action must be taken on the third Tuesday in April.

The three commissioners have maintained strict silence concerning the rate for the coming fiscal year. They had a final session last night at the Court House in drawing up the budget.

Rate Is Question

The big question to be answered today is whether the present tax rate of $1.87, set for the first time a year ago, will stand or be increased.

Various county departments have submitted their budget requests. Twelve of them, previously published, asked for a total of $2,580,841.45, which is $85,273.02 more than the $2,495,568.43 they have during the current 12-month period. If all of the requests are accepted, the departments would get an average of about 3.4 per cent more than they are getting this year.

If that 3.4 per cent increase prevailed for the entire county budget, the total expenditures in the forthcoming fiscal year would reach $3,665,689.01. Whether that develops will be learned today.

Access Road Cost

The biggest uncertainty concerning the budget is the question of the cost to county taxpayers for building the access road from Oldtown Road to the site on which the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company may build a plant.

Several weeks ago the commissioners released a statement in which they said the total cost of the road would be between $450,000 and $500,000. To assist in financing the project, the commissioners have said they can count on some $150,000 in federal aid funds, $27,000 from fill materials to be provided by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and $31,000 from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for eliminating the crossing over the tracks.

William H. Lemmert, president of the Board of County Commissioners, would not say last night how large an item for the new road will be in the new 1954-55 budget.

It is known that the commissioners have had several "cushions" where funds appropriated for the 1953-54 fiscal year were not spent. One is in the cost of financing the school building program. The commissioners last year put a $105,000 item in the budget as the estimated cost of financing a $1,500,000 school bond issue.

Cost Is Less

The actual cost reportedly was under $85,000. The Board of Education needed only $1,190,000 for the building program and this was borrowed from the state at one and three-quarters per cent interest. The commissioners had figured that a bond issue would cost between two and one-half and three per cent interest.

Another unexpended item is $4,870 which was included in the Civil Defense budget last year but is not being spent during the current 12 months.

Of course the county's biggest "cushion" is the use of an assessable basis considerably less than the real assessable basis. In preparing the 1953-54 budget the figures were prepared on an assessable basis of $140,000,000. The actual assessable basis is something like $136,000,000. That means that the commissioners collect taxes on $16,000,000 more property than the assessable basis. That gives the county a surplus for the next year. A year ago the surplus was $481,339.01. Two years ago the surplus was $510,382.77.

With the increase in rate from $1.82 to $1.87 last year there is a chance that the surplus may be even higher this year.

The county's tax rate and expenditures since 1941 follow:

Year	Rate	Expenditures
1941	$1.43	$1,985,467.50
1942	$1.38	$1,808,410.93
1943	$1.62	$1,806,501.23
1944	$1.68	$1,811,806.88
1945	$1.77	$1,871,785.99
1946	$1.77	$1,945,861.86
1947	$1.72	$2,115,851.79
1948	$1.67	$2,619,800.77
1949	$1.65	$2,985,101.37
1950	$1.60	$3,027,840.18
1951	$1.82	$2,969,583.58
1952	$1.82	$3,353,218.71
1953	$1.87	$3,665,689.01
